Plaintiffs seek damages in order to compensate for and restore natural resources injured by Hess’s crude oil discharge from its offshore platform in Block 51 of Breton Sound, Plaquemines Parish, Louisiana, on or about June 12, 2005.

Plaintiffs also seek to recover unreimbursed costs of assessing such damages.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF

Natural Resource Damages under Section 1002 of OPA

26. The preceding paragraphs are realleged and incorporated herein by reference.

27. Hess is a corporation and a “person” within the meaning of Section 1001(27) of OPA, 33 U.S.C. § 2701(27).

28. At the time of the oil spill, beginning on or about June 12, 2005, Hess was the owner and operator of the offshore platform, including the storage tank located on the platform, at Block 51 of Breton Sound, Plaquemines Parish, Louisiana (“Block 51”).

29. On or about June 12, 2005, Hess’s offshore platform at Block 51, including the storage tank located on the platform, was an “offshore facility” within the meaning of Section 1001(22) of OPA, 33 U.S.C. § 2701(22).

30. Hess’s offshore facility at Block 51 is located approximately 13.5 miles off the coast of Louisiana and is within the exclusive economic zone of the United States.

31. Hess was the “responsible party” for the offshore facility within the meaning of Section 1001(32)(C) of OPA, 33 U.S.C. § 2701(32)(C).

32. On or about June 12, 2005, Hess discharged crude oil into the waters of the Gulf of Mexico from Hess’s Block 51 offshore facility. The oil spilled from a storage tank located on the offshore platform into Breton Sound. The incident resulted in an estimated discharge of 12 barrels of crude oil (504 gallons) into the waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

33. The spilling of crude oil on or about June 12, 2005, into the waters of the Gulf of Mexico was a “discharge” within the meaning of Section 1001(7) of OPA, 33 U.S.C. § 2701(7).

34. The crude oil released during the incident was “oil” within the meaning of Section 1001(23) of OPA, 33 U.S.C. § 2701(23).

35. Hess discharged oil into the “exclusive economic zone” of the United States within the meaning of Section 1001(8) of OPA, 33 U.S.C. § 2701(8).

36. On June 13, 2005, United States Coast Guard officials conducting surveillance in Breton Sound discovered oil on the shoreline and in the marshes of West Point Breton Island (the “Island”), located within the Breton National Wildlife Refuge (the “Refuge”). The Refuge is located within Breton Sound. Breton Sound and the barrier islands serve as critical nursery habitat for numerous species and provide many other ecological services.

37. As a result of the discharge, critical nesting habitat, sandy beach, back barrier marsh dominated by black mangrove, and fauna were exposed to oil.

38. Numerous types of sea birds and aquatic life are known to inhabit the oiled areas. Aquatic organisms include, but are not limited to, finfish, crustaceans, and shellfish. Wildlife species include, but are not limited to, resident and migratory birds, furbearers, aquatic mammals, and turtles.

39. On June 14, 2005, federal and State natural resource trustee agencies were mobilized to assess the extent of oil exposure, collect carcasses, and rehabilitate affected fauna, where possible. Juvenile brown pelicans were among the fauna most affected by the discharge, with oil covering 80-90 percent of their bodies and severely impacting the brown pelican nesting colony.

40. On June 16, 2005, all active cleanup activities were completed at the Island, with the exception of the absorbent boom removal and recovery.

41. FWS estimated that the oil spill killed well over one thousand juvenile brown pelicans.

42. Hess's oil discharge caused injury to, destruction of, loss of, or loss of use of "natural resources" within the meaning of Section 1001(20) of OPA, 33 U.S.C. § 2701(20).

43. FWS is the designated United States trustee of natural resources injured by Hess's discharge of oil pursuant to Section 1006(b)(2) of OPA, 33 U.S.C. § 2706(b)(2), Subpart G of the National Oil and Hazardous Substances Pollution Contingency Plan ("NCP") (40 C.F.R. §§ 300.600, et seq.), and Executive Order 12580 (3 C.F.R., 1987 Comp. p. 193, 52 Fed. Reg. 2923 (January 23, 1987)), as amended by Executive Order 12777, 56 Fed. Reg. 54757 (October 19, 1991).

44. The Louisiana trustees, LOSCO, LDNR, LDEQ, LDWF, and CPRA (collectively, the "State Trustees") are designated by the Governor of Louisiana as State trustees of natural resources injured by the discharge of oil from Hess's offshore facility pursuant to Section 1006(b)(3) of OPA, 33 U.S.C. § 2706(b)(3), and 40 C.F.R. § 300.605.

45. The trustees for the United States and the State are coordinating injury assessment and restoration efforts.

46. Plaintiffs have incurred costs in assessing injuries to natural resources resulting from the oil spill.

47. Pursuant to Section 1002(a) and (b)(2) of OPA, 33 U.S.C. § 2702(a) and (b)(2), Hess is liable to the United States and to the State Trustees for damages for injury to, destruction of, loss of, or loss of use of natural resources, including the reasonable costs of assessing such injury, destruction, loss, or loss of use resulting from the discharge of oil from Hess's offshore facility as alleged herein.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF

Natural Resource Damages under Section 2480 of OSPRA

48. The preceding paragraphs are realleged and incorporated herein by reference.

49. The Louisiana trustees, LOSCO, LDNR, LDEQ, LDWF, and CPRA serve as State Trustees under OSPRA according to La. R.S. 30:2451, et seq. and LA. ADMIN. CODE tit. 43, part XXIX, et seq.

50. Hess was the owner and/or operator of the Block 51 offshore platform, a “terminal facility,” in the Gulf of Mexico and, as such, is the “responsible party” under OSPRA. La. R.S. 30:2454(22).

51. The reported release of an estimated 12 barrels of crude oil from Hess’s offshore platform, including the storage tank located on the platform, on or about June 12, 2005, was not authorized by a federal or state permit and therefore constitutes an “unauthorized discharge of oil” under OSPRA. La. R.S. 30:2454(29).

52. The unauthorized discharge of oil caused injury to, destruction of, or loss of natural resources managed, held in trust, and/or regulated by the State Trustees, including but not limited to juvenile brown pelicans and their critical nesting habitat.

53. The State Trustees have incurred costs in assessing damages to natural resources resulting from the unauthorized discharge of oil.

54. Pursuant Section 2480 of OSPRA, La. R.S. 30:2480, Hess is liable to the State Trustees for natural resource damages, including the reasonable cost of assessing such damages, resulting from the unauthorized discharge of oil from Hess’s offshore terminal facility as alleged herein.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court:

- A. Award Plaintiffs a judgment against Defendant Hess Corporation for all damages for injury to, destruction of, loss of, or loss of use of natural resources, including the reasonable costs of assessing such injury, destruction, loss, or loss of use; and
- B. Grant such other relief as this Court deems just and proper.

Respectfully submitted,
