

Statement from Richard A. Rosenbaum:

"When Rudy Giuliani took an unpaid leave of absence from the firm, his intent was to play a limited role, for a short period of time, to address specific matters for President Trump. After recognizing that this work is all consuming and is lasting longer than initially anticipated, Rudy has determined it is best for him to resign from the firm, effective May 9th. I have a great deal of respect for the Mayor's incredible career and what he has done for New York City and our country for many years and consider him a friend," said Richard A. Rosenbaum, Greenberg Traurig Executive Chairman.

Statement from Rudolph W. Giuliani:

"On April 19th, I took a temporary leave of absence from my firm, Greenberg Traurig. In light of the pressing demands of the Mueller investigation, I believe it is in everyone's best interest that I make it a permanent resignation. This way, my sole concentration can be on this critically important matter for our country. I have had a wonderful experience at the firm and I wish the firm and its Executive Chairman, Richard Rosenbaum, all the very best, now and in the future. I will always treasure the personal friendships I have made with everyone at Greenberg Traurig," said Rudolph W. Giuliani.
