On September 27, 2018, Plaintiff filed his Complaint against Defendant in Los Angeles Superior Court alleging sexual battery, gender violence, battery, assault, intentional infliction of emotional distress, and false imprisonment. Notice of Removal ¶ 1; id., Ex. 1, Compl., ECF No. 1-1. Defendant was not served until January 3, 2019, and on January 31, 2019, Defendant removed this Action to this Court on the basis of diversity jurisdiction. Id. ¶ 13. On February 7, 2019, Defendant filed a Motion to Dismiss [8] Plaintiff's claim for false imprisonment specifically, as well as the entire action, because Plaintiff filed under a pseudonym. On February 19, 2019, Plaintiff filed his First Amended Complaint [14]

in which he remained under the pseudonym John Doe, but dropped the false imprisonment claim and added Profitt Productions and Does 1-9 as defendants.

2.4

On March 1, 2019, Plaintiff filed a Motion to Proceed Anonymously [19]. On March 4, 2019, Plaintiff filed a Motion to Remand [21], arguing that adding Profitt Productions and Does 1-9 as new defendants defeats diversity. On March 5, 2019, Defendant filed a Motion for Order of Misjoinder of the Newly-Named Defendant Profitt Productions [26]. That same day, Defendant again filed a Motion to Dismiss, or, Alternatively, to Require a More Definite Statement as to Plaintiff's identity [22]. Both parties timely opposed each other's Motions, and both parties timely replied.

II. DISCUSSION

A. Defendant's Request for Judicial Notice

Defendant requests that the Court take judicial notice of screenshots from the website of Plaintiff's counsel, Genie Harrison Law Firm, APC, which are attached as Exhibit A to the Declaration of Jay P. Barron In Support of Defendant's Motion to Dismiss

("Barron Decl."). Def.'s Req. for Judicial Notice ("RJN"), ECF No. 23. Courts routinely take judicial notice of documents found on the internet. See, e.g., Rearden LLC v. Rearden Commerce, Inc., 597 F. Supp. 2d 1006, 1013 n. 3 (N.D. Cal. 2009) (taking judicial notice of the contents of a webpage listing a company's office locations); Caldwell v. Caldwell, 420 F. Supp.
2d 1102, 1105 n. 3 (N.D. Cal. 2006) (granting judicial notice of the UC Berkeley Museum of Paleontology website), aff'd, 545 F. 3d 1126 (9th Cir. 2008).
Accordingly, the Court GRANTS Defendant's Request for Judicial Notice.

B. Defendant's Motion for Misjoinder

Plaintiff's FAC seeks to join Profitt Productions as a defendant in this Action. Defendant requests that the Court reject Plaintiff's attempted joinder of Profitt Productions, and dismiss it as a defendant, arguing that Plaintiff only added Profitt Productions, a California corporation, to defeat diversity.

1. Appropriate Legal Standard

As a preliminary matter, Plaintiff argues that the proper legal standard is Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 15(a)(1), which allows a party to amend its pleading once as a matter of course 21 days after service or 21 days after service of a responsive pleading. Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(a)(1). Plaintiff maintains that because his FAC was made within the timely constraints provided by the rule, the joinder is proper. Defendant responds that the proper standard to apply is 28 U.S.C. § 1447(e), which explains that: "[I]f after removal the plaintiff seeks to join additional defendants whose joinder would destroy subject matter jurisdiction, the court may deny joinder, or permit joinder and remand the action to the State court."

The "decision regarding joinder of a diversity destroying defendant is left to the discretion of the district court." Newcombe v. Adolf Coors Co., 157 F.3d 686, 691 (9th Cir. 1998). District courts throughout the Ninth Circuit have steadily held that the discretionary standard under Section 1447(e) is the proper rule by which to analyze post-removal joinder of non-diverse defendants. See, e.g., Walpert v. Jaguar Land Rover North Am., LLC, No. CV 18-8998-FJW (MAAx), 2018 WL 6855985, at *2 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 17, 2018) (applying the five Section 1447(e) factors); Jackson v. Family Dollar, Inc., No. CV 18-5126-GW (MRWX), 2018 WL 3701962, at *2 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 2, 2018) (acknowledging the vast amount of courts who applied the discretionary standard in post-removal joinder of non-diverse parties); San Jose Neurospine v. Cigna Health & Life Ins. Co., No. 16-CV-05061-LHK, 2016 WL 7242139, at *6-7 (N.D. Cal. Dec. 15, 2016) ("Thus, even though Plaintiff has already filed its FAC, the Court must still consider under 28 U.S.C. § 1447(e)"). Courts have applied this standard, as opposed to Rule 15's permissive standard, because "[t]o apply the permissive standard of Rule 15(a) in this situation would allow a plaintiff to improperly manipulate the forum of an action . . .". Clinco v. Roberts, 41 F. Supp. 2d 1080, 1086-87 (C.D. Cal. 1999). As such, this Court joins the overwhelming majority of courts within this district and finds that the discretionary standard under Section 1447(e) must be applied.

2. Section 1447(e) Factors

Under Section 1447(e) courts consider the following factors: "(1) whether the party sought to be joined is needed for just adjudication and would be joined under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 19(a); (2) whether the statute of limitations would prevent the filing of a new action against the new defendant in state court; (3) whether there has been an unexplained delay in seeking to join the new defendant; (4) whether plaintiff seeks to join the new party solely to defeat federal jurisdiction; (5) whether denial of the joinder would prejudice the plaintiff; and (6) the strength of the claims against the new defendant. See Boon v.
Allstate Ins. Co., 229 F. Supp. 2d 1016, 1020 (C.D. Cal. 2002) (citing Clinco, 41 F. Supp. 2d at 1082).

a. Strength of the Claim

The most significant factor here is whether the claims asserted against the non-diverse party have merit. See San Jose Neurospine, 2016 WL 7242139, at *11 (citing Clinco, 41 F. Supp. 2d at 1083). The existence of a facially valid claim against the non-diverse party weighs in favor of permitting joinder.

Forward-Rossi v. Jaguar LandRover N. Am., LLC, No. 216-CV-00949-CAS-KSX, 2016 WL 339625, at *4 (C.D. Cal. June 13, 2016) (citation omitted).

Plaintiff joins Profitt Productions in his gender violence claim against Defendant. FAC \P 58-60. Plaintiff alleges that Profitt Productions is liable because Plaintiff believes that Profitt Productions rented the Residence on behalf of Defendant as a dwelling place, as a location for massages, and for filming purposes. Id. ¶ 12. Plaintiff also alleges that based on information and belief, Defendant is an officer and employee of Profitt Productions. Id. \P 5. Plaintiff asserts his gender violence claim under Cal. Civ. Code. § 52.4, which requires "the use, attempted use, or threatened use of physical force against the person or property of another." Section 52.4 expressly notes that it "does not establish any civil liability of a person because of his or her status as an employer, unless the employer personally committed an act of gender violence." Plaintiff attempts to extend the scope of this statute to Profitt Productions, alleging that Profitt Productions "personally and directly committed the acts of gender violence to Plaintiff ". Pl.'s Opp'n 11:25-27.

The Court disagrees with Plaintiff's interpretation of this statute. First, Plaintiff fails to cite any authority expressly holding that a corporation, 1 2 employer, or entity may be responsible for personally committing acts of gender violence. In fact, courts 3 within this district have held the exact opposite. See 4 Doe v. Starbucks, Inc., No. SACV 08-0582 AG CWX, 2009 5 WL 5183773, at *10 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 18, 2009) 6 7 (dismissing a claim against a corporation after finding that a gender violence claim under Cal. Civ. Code. § 8 52.4 cannot extend to employers). Further, this claim cannot extend to Profitt Productions even if Plaintiff 10 alleges that Defendant is "in every practical sense" 11 Profitt Productions. Pl.'s Opp'n at 4:12-14. Courts 12 have declined to extend liability to corporations run 13 14 by individual defendants already accused of acts of gender violence. See Canosa v. Ziff, No. 18 CIV. 4115 15 (PAE), 2019 WL 498865, at *14 (S.D.N.Y. Jan. 28, 2019) 16 (analyzing Cal. Civ. Code. § 52.4 and stating that "a 17 18 'responsible party' does not include an 'employer' who 19 was not itself an active perpetrator of gender 20 violence"); Clinco, 41 F. Supp. 2d at 1084 (denying joinder in part because plaintiff likely could not 21 prevail on claim against non-diverse party even if he 22 23 found evidence to support his allegations made on "information and belief"). 24

26

27

28

Because Plaintiff already has brought this claim against Defendant, and because Profitt Productions could not have itself, as a corporation, personally and directly committed the alleged acts of gender violence, the Court finds that Plaintiff's claim against Profitt Productions is without merit and facially invalid. Thus, this factor weighs in favor of denying joinder.

Rule 19(a) requires joinder of parties whose absence would prevent complete relief or impede the party's protection of interests. If a party is necessary under this rule, they must be joined if feasible. When deciding whether to permit joinder under this factor, courts consider the degree of involvement by the defendant in the occurrences that gave rise to the cause of action. Boon, 229 F. Supp. 2d at 1022. As explained, Plaintiff does not plead sufficient facts regarding Profitt Productions' direct involvement. The only allegations in the FAC regarding Profitt Productions is its status as Defendant's loanout company, and Plaintiff's allegations that it rented the Residence. However, Defendant stated in his declaration that he did not participate with any filming projects through Profitt Productions during or around the time of the alleged incident, and that Profitt Productions did not rent any house in Malibu for Defendant to stay in during this time. Declaration of Kevin Spacey Fowler ("Fowler Decl.") $\P\P$ 3-4, ECF No. Plaintiff did not provide any evidence or argument to refute Defendant's statements. Consequently, Plaintiff does not adequately allege or argue that Profitt Productions is a necessary party in this Action, and as such, this factor weighs in favor of denying joinder.

c. Statute of Limitations

The next factor is whether the statute of limitations would affect a plaintiff's ability to bring a separate suit against the new party. Clinco, 41 F. Supp. 2d at 1083. The statute of limitations for gender violence is three years. Cal. Civ. Code § 52.4(b). Since this incident is alleged to have occurred in October of 2016, Plaintiff is not barred from bringing a separate suit against the new party. FAC ¶ 10. Thus, this factor supports denying joinder.

d. Timeliness

The Court must also consider whether there was undue delay in adding the non-diverse party. Clinco, 41 F. Supp. 2d at 1083. Plaintiff filed his FAC on February 19, 2019, almost five months after filing the initial Complaint, and less than a month after removal. The Court finds this is not an unreasonable amount of time. See Forward-Rossi v. Jaguar Land Rover North America, LLC, No. 2:16-cv-00949-CAS (Ksx), 2016 WL 3396925, at *3 (C.D. Cal. June 13, 2016) (holding that delay of four months after action was removed was not unreasonable); see also Yang v. Swissport USA, Inc., No. C 09-03823 SI, 2010 WL 2680800, at *4 (N.D. Cal. 2010) (granting plaintiffs' motion to amend filed nine months after removal where "no dispositive motions have been filed, and the discovery completed thus far

[would] be relevant whether the case is litigated in [federal] court or state court"). Thus, this factor weighs in favor of allowing joinder.

e. Motive for Joinder

2.4

The motive must be looked at with particular care "in removal cases, when the presence of a new defendant will defeat the court's diversity jurisdiction and will require a remand." Clinco, 41 F. Supp. 2d at 1083 (quoting Desert Empire Bank v. Ins. Co. of No. America, 623 F.2d 1371, 1376 (9th Cir. 1980)). Courts consider three factors when analyzing motive within this context: (1) whether the plaintiff was aware of the removal at the time of amendment; (2) whether the plaintiff's amendment contains only minor changes to the original complaint; and (3) whether the plaintiff has provided an explanation for its delay in asserting claims against the non-diverse defendant. San Jose Neurospine, 2016 WL 7242139, at *10-11.

Here, Plaintiff amended his Complaint a couple of weeks after Defendant removed the case, thus Plaintiff was aware of the removal. Second, Plaintiff's FAC contains two changes: (1) Plaintiff removed his false imprisonment claim, and (2) Plaintiff added Profitt Productions and Does 1-9 to his gender violence claim. Other than these two changes, Plaintiff does not allege any additional facts and the FAC remains substantially similar to the original Complaint. Forward-Rossi, 2016 WL 3396925, at *4 ("Courts have inferred an improper motive where the plaintiff's proposed amended complaint contains only minor or insignificant changes to the original complaint."). Third, Plaintiff argues that once he discovered the existence of Profitt Productions, he promptly joined the entity. Opp'n at 10:22-24. However, Plaintiff fails to explain why he took the time that he did to learn about the existence of Profitt Productions. Indeed, Plaintiff did not add any factual allegations pertaining to Profitt Productions and fails to assert a valid legal claim against Profitt Productions. "In light of this, one could justifiably suspect that [Plaintiff's] amendment of the complaint was caused by the removal rather than an evolution of [Plaintiff's] case." Clinco, 41 F. Supp. 2d at 1083. Thus, this factor does not support joinder.

f. Prejudice to Plaintiff

The last factor considers whether Plaintiff will suffer undue prejudice if joinder is denied. Boon, 229 F. Supp. 2d at 1025. Since the claim against Profitt Productions is facially invalid, the Court does not find that denying joinder will cause Plaintiff to suffer undue prejudice. Even if Plaintiff did have a valid claim against Profitt Productions, pursuing a separate action against an unnecessary party in state court does not on its own constitute prejudice. Id. ("Thus, interests of judicial economy are not unreasonably burdened by requiring plaintiff to pursue any such indemnity claim in state court.") Having considered all of the factors, the Court finds that they weigh in favor of denying joinder. Thus, the Court GRANTS Defendant's Motion for Misjoinder and dismisses Profitt Productions as a defendant.

After a party amends a pleading as a matter of course, as Plaintiff did here, further amendment requires leave of court or consent of the adverse Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(a). Rule 15 instructs that "leave shall be freely given when justice so requires." Eminence Capital, LLC v. Aspeon, Inc., 316 F.3d 1048, 1051 (9th Cir. 2003). However, "[c]ourts have recognized that the usually liberal approach to amendment does not apply when a plaintiff amends its complaint after removal to add a diversity-destroying defendant." Ramirez v. Charter Commc'ns, LLC, No. EDCV 19-108-R, 2019 WL 1376744, at *1 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 26, 2019) (considering the Section 1447(e) factors and holding that the court "is persuaded that [p]laintiff has attempted to improperly manipulate the forum of this action and, therefore, should not be permitted to amend the [c]omplaint").

Here, Plaintiff requests that if the Court grants

¹ Defendant requests that the Court also dismiss Does 1 through 9, however as they are Doe defendants and unknown persons or entities at this time, retaining them does not defeat diversity. Without more, the Court DENIES Defendant's request to dismiss the Doe defendants at this time.

Defendant's Misjoinder Motion, it allow Plaintiff leave to amend his FAC to allege additional facts showing Profitt Productions to be a necessary and proper party. As explained above, the Court finds that the Section 1447(e) factors weigh in favor of denying joinder of Profitt Productions. Given that the Court finds Plaintiff does not have a legally valid gender violence claim against Profitt Productions, and that Plaintiff likely added Profitt Productions solely to defeat diversity, the Court finds any amendment would be futile. Accordingly, the Court DENIES Plaintiff's request for leave to amend on this basis.

Civil actions may be removed from state court if the federal court has original jurisdiction. See Syngenta Crop Prot., Inc. v. Henson, 123 S. Ct. 366, 370 (2002) ("Under the plain terms of § 1441(a), in order properly to remove [an] action pursuant to that provision, . . . original subject-matter jurisdiction [must] lie[] in the federal courts."). Diversity jurisdiction exists in all civil actions between citizens of different states where the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000, exclusive of interest and 28 U.S.C. § 1332. There must be complete costs. diversity of citizenship, meaning "each of the plaintiffs must be a citizen of a different state than each of the defendants." Morris v. Princess Cruises, Inc., 236 F.3d 1061, 1067 (9th Cir. 2001) (citing Caterpillar Inc. v. Lewis, 519 U.S. 61, 68 (1996)).

"The burden of establishing jurisdiction falls on the party invoking the removal statute, which is strictly construed against removal." Sullivan v. First Affiliated Sec., Inc., 813 F.2d 1368, 1371 (9th Cir. 1987) (internal citations omitted). Courts resolve all ambiguities "in favor of remand to state court."

Hunter v. Philip Morris USA, 582 F.3d 1039, 1042 (9th Cir. 2009) (citing Gaus v. Miles, Inc., 980 F.2d 564, 566 (9th Cir. 1992)). A removed case must be remanded "[i]f at any time before final judgment it appears that the district court lacks subject matter jurisdiction."

28 U.S.C. § 1447(c).

Defendant removed this Action on the basis of diversity jurisdiction. In his Notice of Removal, Defendant argues that Plaintiff is a resident of California, and Defendant is a resident of Maryland. Notice of Removal ¶¶ 5-6. Defendant further argues that this case more likely than not exceeds $75,000 as the Complaint seeks statutory, compensatory, and punitive damages against Defendant, with compensatory damages including "physical injury and emotional pain and distress," "economic harm, loss of earnings, and other damages." Id. ¶ 10.

Plaintiff seeks to remand this case on the sole basis that with Profitt Productions added as a defendant, complete diversity no longer exists because Profitt Productions is incorporated in California and maintains its principal place of business in Los Angeles. Pl.'s Mot. to Remand at 4-5, ECF No. 21; Declaration of Mary Olszewska ("Olszewska Decl.") ¶ 3, ECF No. 21-1. Because the Court already determined that Profitt Productions cannot be joined to this Action, diversity jurisdiction is preserved and there is no remaining basis to remand this case. Thus, the Court DENIES Plaintiff's Motion to Remand.

"The normal presumption in litigation is that parties must use their real names." Doe v. Kamehameha Schools/Bernice Pauahi Bishop Estate, 596 F.3d 1036, 1042 (9th Cir. 2010). Despite this presumption, "a party may preserve his or her anonymity in judicial proceedings in special circumstances when the party's need for anonymity outweighs prejudice to the opposing party and the public's interest in knowing the party's identity." Does I thru XXIII v. Advanced Textile Corp., 214 F.3d 1058, 1068 (9th Cir. 2000). Plaintiff seeks to proceed anonymously because in this particular case, involving a high-profile celebrity, Plaintiff fears disclosure will result in a loss of his clientele and impair his ability to make a living, as well as put him at risk of physical safety. Plaintiff further arques that anonymity is necessary to protect against victim shaming and humiliation given the nature of his claims and the heightened media and tabloid attention this case will receive. Pl.'s Mot. to Proceed Anonymously 3:5-25, ECF No. 19. 1 2 Courts have permitted parties to proceed 3 anonymously when "anonymity is necessary to preserve privacy in a matter of highly personal nature." 4 Advanced Textile, 214 F.3d at 1068. Courts in the 5 Ninth Circuit have regularly permitted plaintiffs 6 7 alleging sexual assault to proceed anonymously because the nature of such claims constitute a special 8 circumstance. Here, Plaintiff's FAC sufficiently demonstrates that his allegations of sexual assault and battery present special circumstances of a personal nature. Plaintiff's vulnerability to humiliation, harassment, and threats, is further exacerbated by the nature of Defendant's status as a high-profile celebrity and the media attention that comes with it. The Court finds that anonymity is necessary to protect Plaintiff's privacy and to protect against any further trauma.

The Court further finds that there is little prejudice to Defendant at this stage. The Court must "determine the precise prejudice at each stage of the proceedings to the opposing party, and whether proceedings may be structured so as to mitigate that prejudice." Advanced Textile, 214 F.3d at 1067. Defendant argues that he is inhibited by Plaintiff's refusal to participate in the Rule 26(f) conference, however the Court already addressed this in ruling on Defendant's Ex Parte Application for Order to Set Deadlines Under Rule 26 [31]. There, the Court denied Defendant's Application, finding that it is reasonable to delay the Rule 26(f) conference given that Plaintiff's Motion to Remand has been pending before the Court. Order re Ex Parte Application 4-5, ECF No. Plaintiff's anonymity is irrelevant to the Rule 26(f) conference, as the only issue holding up the conference was whether the Court has jurisdiction. Now 2 that the Court has ruled that it retains subject matter jurisdiction, the parties are free to continue into discovery. Defendant also argues that anonymity prevents Defendant's ability to conduct third-party discovery for any possible unknown parties with However, the FAC provides sufficient information. detail as to the time, location, and facts surrounding the alleged assault for Defendant to conduct sufficient discovery at this stage. Although the FAC is vague as to the actual date, and only alleges that the incident occurred in October 2016, because this involved the hiring of Plaintiff's services, Defendant likely has records or bank statements in his possession that can provide him with further information such as where Plaintiff worked at the time. As such, the Court is unpersuaded that any prejudice outweighs the need for Plaintiff's anonymity.

Finally, as evidenced by the majority of courts in this circuit permitting anonymity for alleged sexual assault victims, the "public generally has a strong interest in protecting the identities of sexual assault victims so that other victims will not be deterred from reporting such crimes." Doe v. Penzato, No. CV10-5154 MEJ, 2011 WL 1833007, at *3 (N.D. Cal. May 13, 2011) (citations omitted). The Court finds that the need for Plaintiff's anonymity outweighs the prejudice to Defendant and the public's interest in knowing his identity at this stage. However, the Court acknowledges that maintaining anonymity throughout the entirety of this case would prevent a just resolution, as Defendant will need to know Plaintiff's identity at some point either during discovery or before this case proceeds to trial. Because the Rule 26(f) conference has yet to occur the Court is satisfied to retain anonymity at this early stage, but if anonymity hinders Defendant's ability to adequately conduct discovery at a later stage, Defendant may seek relief from this Court. Accordingly, the Court GRANTS Plaintiff's Motion to Proceed Anonymously.

E. Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, or, Alternatively, to Require a More Definite Statement

Defendant argues that Plaintiff's FAC should be dismissed in its entirety because Plaintiff cannot plead anonymously. Defendant essentially repeats his arguments made in opposition to Plaintiff's Motion to Proceed Anonymously here in this context. Def.'s Mot. to Dismiss 1-10, ECF No. 22. Because the Court has already found that Plaintiff can proceed anonymously at this stage, the Court need not address these arguments. Defendant further argues that if the Court does not dismiss Plaintiff's claims, it should require Plaintiff to amend his pleading to provide a more definite statement by disclosing his identity. Id. at 11:14-16. Defendant does not argue that the FAC should be dismissed for any other reason as to Defendant. The only other argument Defendant makes is that the gender violence claim against Profitt Productions must be dismissed, however the Court already denied joinder of Profitt Productions as a defendant. Thus, for the same reasons already discussed as to Plaintiff's Motion to Proceed Anonymously and Defendant's Motion for Misjoinder, the Court DENIES Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, or, Alternatively, to Require a More Definite Statement.

III. CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing reasons, the Court GRANTS Defendant's Motion for Misjoinder [26]; DENIES Plaintiff's Motion to Remand [21]; GRANTS Plaintiff's Motion to Proceed Anonymously [19]; and DENIES Defendant's Motion to Dismiss, or, Alternatively, to Require a More Definite Statement [22]. Because the Court granted Defendant's Motion for Misjoinder, the newly-named Defendant M. Profitt Productions is hereby dismissed without prejudice and the allegations against it are stricken. Plaintiff is to file a Second Amended Complaint within 21 days of this Order that eliminates M. Profitt Productions. No other substantive changes or allegations are permitted in this amendment.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

DATED: May 14, 2019 s/RONALD S.W.LEW
