1 The Official Committee of Tort Claimants (the “TCC”) and the Ad Hoc Committee of Senior 2 Unsecured Noteholders of Pacific Gas and Electric Company (the “Ad Hoc Committee”)<sup>1</sup> in the above-
3 captioned chapter 11 cases of Pacific Gas and Electric Company (the “Utility”) and PG&E Corporation
4 (“PG&E” and, together with the Utility, the “Debtors”), by their respective undersigned counsel, Baker
5 & Hostetler LLP and Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP, hereby submit this motion (the “Motion”)
6 pursuant to section 1121(d)(1) of title 11 of the United States Code (the “Bankruptcy Code”) for entry
7 of an order, substantially in the form attached as Exhibit A hereto, terminating the Debtors’ exclusive
8 periods to file and solicit acceptances of a plan of reorganization (the “Exclusive Periods”). Termination
9 would allow the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee to jointly propose the Alternative Plan (as defined 10 herein) attached hereto as Exhibit 1. In support of this Motion, the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee 11 respectfully state the following:

12 PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

13 1. In its memorandum decision [Docket No. 3568] (the “Memorandum Decision”) denying 14 the Ad Hoc Committee’s prior request to terminate exclusivity, the Court made clear that the top priority 15 in this case is “compensating victims of enormous and unimaginable tragedies.” Memorandum Decision 16 at 3. As a result, the Court permitted the Debtors to maintain exclusivity, but warned the Debtors at the 17 status conference held on August 27, 2019, that if the plan filed was “bogus” or not “legally permissible 18 or couldn’t be confirmed without” consent of the objecting parties, the Court “probably would be 19 receptive to terminating exclusivity very quickly.” Hr’g Tr. 42:21-43:4, August 27, 2019. Despite these 20 clear statements from the Court, on September 9, 2019 [Docket No. 3841] the Debtors filed a plan (the 21 “Placeholder Plan”) not supported by any of the wildfire victims and without substantial financing 22 commitments.<sup>2</sup>

24 <sup>1</sup> The Ad Hoc Committee filed a statement pursuant to Rule 2019 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure on 25 July 18, 2019 [Docket No. 3083]. Members of the Ad Hoc Committee hold in excess of $10 billion of funded debt claims against the Debtors.

26 <sup>2</sup> The Debtors will undoubtedly claim to have made progress based on their announcement on September 13, 2019
27 of a settlement with the Ad Hoc Group of Subrogation Claim Holders (the “Subrogation Group”) to increase the plan treatment for Subrogation Wildfire Claims to $11 billion. For reasons that will be explained in greater detail below, this

1           2.       During this same period, however, the representatives of the two largest stakeholders in 2 this case—the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee—have been negotiating an alternative to the Debtors’ 3 Placeholder Plan (the “Alternative Plan”) that focuses on resolving and fully funding the payment of the 4 claims held by the victims of these tragic wildfires, rather than returns to equity holders and secondary
5 market buyers of subrogation claims. The TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee are now prepared to present 6 the Alternative Plan that incorporates a comprehensive settlement (the “Wildfire Claims Settlement”) of 7 all wildfire claims against the Debtors, including subrogation claims, valued at $24 billion, paid with a
8 mix of cash and equity of the Reorganized PG&E Corp., which both the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee
9 believe has the best chance to fully and fairly compensate wildfire victims. As important, the payments
10 to victims under the Wildfire Claims Settlement and Alternative Plan will be satisfied from, among other 11 sources, fully committed financing provided by the members of the Ad Hoc Committee—in stark
12 contrast to the highly conditional and illusory “financing” that the Debtors hope will materialize to back 13 the Placeholder Plan. Under the Alternative Plan, wildfire victims will be paid through a trust that will 14 be acceptable to the TCC and overseen by those selected by the TCC to manage the process. By placing 15 the governance of the mechanism by which wildfire victims will be paid in the hands of the 16 representatives of those victims, the Alternative Plan ensures a quick and fair process for victims to 17 receive their recoveries.

18           3.       Put simply, the Alternative Plan is the only “clear path to reach the goal of compensation 19 for the fire victims who are involuntary creditors of these debtors as well as for the contractual claims of their 20 voluntary creditors.” Memorandum Decision at p. 2. It is the only plan construct that is supported by the 21 individual wildfire victims, and the only plan that can plausibly make these victims whole. Moreover, 22 the Alternative Plan may avoid the need for a lengthy and uncertain estimation process to determine the 23 Debtors’ aggregate wildfire liability, as well as the state court trial with respect to the Tubbs Fire,

25 settlement does not constitute true progress and in fact shifts $1.5 billion of already inadequate recoveries from individual
26 victims to the insurance companies and financial institutions that hold Subrogation Wildfire Claims. Thus, rather than 27 moving parties closer, this “settlement” moves the Debtors further away from a resolution with the TCC and individual 28 victims.

1 providing the Debtors with a clear path to resolution of these cases well before the June 30, 2020 deadline
2 to qualify for the go-forward wildfire fund under AB 1054.

3 4. Thus, it is clear that while the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee have been focused on 4 finding a way to compensate fairly wildfire victims and expeditiously moving these cases out of 5 bankruptcy, the Debtors have used their Exclusive Periods to serve only the interests of their equity 6 holders and have done so at the expense of wildfire victims and other stakeholders. The Debtors have 7 used this time (i) negotiating for illusory financing commitments with equity holders, (ii) negotiating 8 with additional equity holders who are now major holders of Subrogation Wildfire Claims to settle those 9 claims, and (iii) unsuccessfully lobbying the California state legislature during August and September 10 to authorize the issuance of equity securitization bonds, and as a result have ended up with only the 11 Placeholder Plan, which provides unacceptable risks and uncertainties to the wildfire victims. Even if 12 this Court believed that the Placeholder Plan satisfied the low “bogus” standard and provides a path, 13 which it does not, the Alternative Plan plainly satisfies the Court’s requirements. The Court now has 14 before it two paths—the Debtors’ Placeholder Plan, which has the embedded risk that the tort claimants 15 will prove claims far beyond the Debtors’ (or equity’s) ability to fund; and the Alternative Plan, which 16 takes both the uncertainty as to the maximum tort claim amount, and uncertainty as to the ability to 17 satisfy that agreed amount promptly, off the table. This Court should eliminate the risk to all claimants 18 (and the risk to California ratepayers), by ensuring that the Alternative Plan is firmly in place as an 19 alternative means to a speedy exit from bankruptcy.

20 5. The TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee submit that the Alternative Plan presents the only 21 available path to a fair and equitable outcome for victims and a path to resolution of these cases prior to 22 June 30, 2020. Therefore, we respectfully request that the Court terminate the Exclusive Periods so that 23 they may jointly file and solicit acceptances of the Alternative Plan, for only then is there a backstop, 24 should the Placeholder Plan fail, which the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee believe is inevitable. The 25 primary consideration for a court in determining whether to maintain or terminate exclusivity is whether 26
27
28

1 termination will “move the case forward.”<sup>3</sup> Allowing the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee to file and 2 solicit acceptances of the Alternative Plan is the most certain way to move these cases forward and 3 satisfy the claims of all creditors, including, most importantly, the wildfire victims.

5 JURISDICTION AND VENUE

6 6. The Court has jurisdiction to consider this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334, 7 the Order Referring Bankruptcy Cases and Proceedings to Bankruptcy Judges, General Order 24 (N.D.
8 Cal.), and Rule 5011-1(a) of the Bankruptcy Local Rules for the United States District Court for the 9 Northern District of California (the “Bankruptcy Local Rules”).

10 7. This is a core proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §157(b).

11 8. Venue is proper before the Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409.

12 9. The statutory basis for the relief requested in this Motion is section 1121(d) of the 13 Bankruptcy Code.

14 BACKGROUND

15 10. On June 25, 2019, the Ad Hoc Committee filed its motion to terminate the Debtors’ 16 Exclusive Periods [Docket No. 2741] (the “Original Termination Motion”). On August 13, 2019, the 17 Court conducted a hearing to consider the Original Termination Motion (the “Exclusivity Hearing”). On 18 August 16, 2019, this Court entered the Memorandum Decision denying the Original Termination 19 Motion, despite finding that the Ad Hoc Committee satisfied the standard set forth by the Court.

20 11. The Memorandum Decision stated that that the Court was attempting to find a “clear path 21 to reach the goal of compensation for the fire victims who are involuntary creditors of these debtors as well 22 as for the contractual claims of their voluntary creditors[.]” Memorandum Decision at 2. The Court went on 23 to warn the Debtors that the Court “probably would be very receptive to terminating exclusivity very 24 quickly” if the Debtors’ plan was “bogus” and invited the Ad Hoc Committee to renew its motion if the

1 Debtors' plan was not "legally permissible or couldn't be confirmed without" consent. Hr'g Tr. 42:21-2 23, August 27, 2019.

3 12. On September 9, 2019, the Debtors filed the Placeholder Plan. On September 13, 2019, 4 the Debtors announced they had reached a settlement with the Subrogation Group. PG&E Corp., Current 5 Report (Form 8-K) (Sept. 13, 2019).<sup>4</sup>

6 RELIEF REQUESTED

7 13. By this Motion, the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee seek entry of an order terminating 8 the Debtors' Exclusive Periods to permit the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee to jointly file and solicit 9 acceptances of a plan of reorganization based on the terms set forth in the Alternative Plan term sheet 10 attached hereto. A proposed form of order approving the relief requested herein is annexed hereto as 11 Exhibit A.

12 BASIS FOR RELIEF

13 14. There is ample cause to terminate the Debtors' Exclusive Periods. The Placeholder Plan 14 was filed by the Debtors solely to maintain exclusivity. The Placeholder Plan has a multitude of 15 deficiencies, the most serious of which are detailed below, including the fact that the Placeholder Plan 16 is drastically underfunded and it proposes to severely undercompensate key impaired constituencies, 17 most notably the wildfire victims and the holders of the Funded Debt Claims, without whose support the 18 Placeholder Plan cannot be confirmed because of the absolute priority rule.<sup>5</sup> Critically, the Placeholder 19 Plan lacks the support of the representatives of the wildfire victims—the TCC, who now support 20 termination of exclusivity to pursue the Alternative Plan. That alone should serve as a basis to terminate
21 the Debtors' Exclusive Periods to enable the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee to pursue the Alternative 22

23
24
25 <sup>4</sup> Other than providing a settlement amount for holders of subrogation claims, the Debtors have announced no 26 details regarding this settlement and have not sought Court approval of such settlement.

27 <sup>5</sup> 11 U.S.C. 1129(b)(2)(B)(ii). See Placeholder Plan at p. 37 (acknowledging that Other Wildfire Claims are 28 impaired as against both debtors but providing value to all four classes of interests and Subrogation Wildfire Claims, which are subordinate to their insureds.)

1 Plan. Given the intense time strictures in these cases, this Court should not wait for the Debtor's plan to 2 inevitably fail in order to permit the only confirmable plan to move forward.

3 15. First, despite what the Debtors told the Court previously, the Debtors' filings indicate 4 they do not have the committed financing to fund the Placeholder Plan. At the Exclusivity Hearing, 5 counsel for the Debtors told the Court that funding commitments had "been coming in quite rapidly" 6 and were "now well in excess of $13 billion." Hr'g Tr. 57:7-9, August 13, 2019. However, contrary to 7 the express representation made to the Court, the 8-K filed by the Debtors on September 9, 2019
8 indicated that the Debtors have only secured $1.5 billion in funding from the exact same parties that had 9 been involved since early August.<sup>6</sup> See PG&E Corp., Current Report (Form 8-K) (Sept. 9, 2019). The 10 Debtors appear to have, at the very least, intentionally overstated their position to this Court in a 11 desperate attempt to maintain exclusivity in August.

12 16. Further, the limited commitments that the Debtors appear to have secured are entirely 13 contingent on the Debtors securing a total of $14 billion in substantially similar commitments by 14 November 7, 2019.<sup>7</sup> As discussed below, the commitments from Knighthead and Abrams will also 15 terminate in the event that the aggregate wildfire claims against the Debtors are in excess of $18.9 billion, 16 which the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee believe remains a strong possibility. Id. Instead of hard 17 commitments for additional financing, the Debtors refer to so-called "highly confident letters" from 18 several banks stating, subject to numerous conditions, that they believe they will be able to arrange equity 19 and debt financing and place equity financing for the Debtors' reorganization. Id. at Schedule 2. There 20 is nothing, however, binding these banks to arrange any financing nor any consequences for their failure
21 to do so. Rather than the $13 billion in additional financing promised by the Debtors at the August 13 22 hearing, the Debtors appear to have nothing more than questionable commitments for $1.5 billion from

24
25 <sup>6</sup> The Debtors previously entered into an agreement to act in concert with Knighthead Funds and Abrams Capital 26 Management, L.P. to develop a proposal to provide capital commitments in support of a potential plan of reorganization.
27 PG&E Corp., Schedule 13D (Item 4)(Aug. 7, 2019).

28 <sup>7</sup> Summary of Key Elements of Debtors' Joint Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization Dated September 9, 2019 [Docket No. 3844], Schedule 1 at 6.

1 the same parties the Debtors had previously announced and several nonbinding letters from financial 2 institutions which fail to guarantee a single dollar in financing for the Debtors' reorganization.

3 17. Second, the aggregate caps on wildfire claims proposed in the Placeholder Plan are 4 entirely inadequate, and instead of encouraging a consensual resolution with the TCC and individual 5 victims, will assuredly encourage these parties to continue litigating and seeking a significantly higher 6 estimation for the Debtors' wildfire liabilities in the pending estimation proceeding. The Debtors have 7 proposed a cap of $8.4 billion on what they describe as "Other Wildfire Claims." Plan at 21. The 8 Debtors' Aug. 9, 2019 10Q states the Utility has determined it is probable the Utility will incur a loss 9 liability for the wildfire claims arising from 22 of the 2017 and 2018 wildfires in the accrued amount of 10 $17.9 billion,<sup>8</sup> which reflects the "low end of the range of reasonably estimated losses";<sup>9</sup> it is reasonably 11 possible that the amount of the loss will be greater than the amount accrued;<sup>10</sup> and the amount of the 12 Utility's possible loss liability could exceed $30 billion.<sup>11</sup> The Debtors' own SEC admissions of their 13 probable liability for the wildfire claims establishes the $8.4 billion cap for the Other Wildfire Claims is 14 not appropriate for the TCC and individual victim claims. By capping recoveries for individual victims 15 at such a low level, the Placeholder Plan guarantees that rather than consensually resolve the crucial 16 issue of payment to victims, the Placeholder Plan will lead to hard-fought and protracted litigation which 17 will likely extend these cases far beyond the June 30, 2020 deadline.

18 18. While the Debtors will likely tout the settlement with the Subrogation Group as 19 substantial progress in these cases, in reality, they are enriching a major equity holder at the expense of 20 individual wildfire victims. To illustrate, the Placeholder Plan initially contained a cap of $8.5 billion 21 on Subrogation Wildfire Claims, but after the announced deal with the Subrogation Group, that cap has 22 been increased to $11 billion, a $2.5 billion increase. Plan at 14; PG&E Corp. Current Report (Form 8-23

24 <sup>8</sup> This amount was subsequently increased to $18.9 billion. PG&E Corp. Current Report (Form 8-K) (Sept. 13, 25 2019).

26 <sup>9</sup> PG&E Corp., Quarterly Report (Form 10-Q) (Aug. 9, 2019).

27 <sup>10</sup> Id. at 53-54.

28 <sup>11</sup> Id. at 76.

1 K) (Sept. 13, 2019). However, pursuant to the announcement of the deal, the total cap for wildfire
2 liability in the Debtors' financing commitment letters is increased by only $1 billion. PG&E Corp.
3 Current Report (Form 8-K) (Sept. 13, 2019). In other words, the Debtors intend to shift approximately 4 $1.5 billion of recoveries previously allocated for individual wildfire victims to the Debtors' allies in the 5 Subrogation Group. The two goals of this settlement are clear: (i) to protect the interests of the Debtors' 6 equity holders by "boxing in" individual wildfire victims' recoveries and (ii) to enable the Debtors to 7 argue that they have made sufficient progress to maintain exclusivity. Since this Court's denial of the 8 Original Termination Motion, the Debtors have engaged in negotiations only with the equity group
9 represented by the Jones Day firm and the Subrogation Group, which is itself dominated by The Baupost 10 Group, L.L.C. ("Baupost"), one of the Debtors' largest equity holders.<sup>12</sup> The settlement of the 11 Subrogation Wildfire Claims will enrich Baupost enormously at the expense of individual wildfire 12 victims that have suffered actual loss. Baupost is reported to hold more than $3.3 billion in Subrogation 13 Wildfire Claims,<sup>13</sup> much of which, upon information and belief, was purchased at approximately 35%
14 of face value.<sup>14</sup> The Placeholder Plan would pay Baupost's claims at roughly 59% of face value, 15 allowing it to reap hundreds of millions of dollars in profit from the Debtors' plan, at the expense of 16 actual wildfire victims.<sup>15</sup> Far from reaching common ground with a new constituency, the settlement 17 reflects the Debtors again acting for the benefit of a large equity holder and creating the illusion that 18 progress is being made in these cases. Any "progress" is, however, at the expense and to the detriment 19 of individual wildfire victims and the certainty and adequacy of their recoveries.

20 19. Third, the Debtors play fast and loose in the Placeholder Plan with the concept of 21 "impairment," as evidenced by their proposed treatment of the Funded Debt Claims, another major 22

23 <sup>12</sup> Baupost holds approximately 23% of the Subrogation Wildfire Claims held by the Subrogation Group and 24.5
24 million shares of PG&E common stock, or 4.6% of the total outstanding PG&E common stock. See Third Amended

1 creditor constituency. Under section 1124 of the Bankruptcy Code, “any alteration” of creditors’ rights
2 under a plan of reorganization constitutes impairment for voting purposes. In re L&J Anaheim Assocs., 3 995 F.2d 940, 942-943 (9th Cir. 1993). Thus, the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee believe that in order
4 to be unimpaired, the terms of the Funded Debt Claims must be respected, including requiring payments 5 of make-whole premiums and postpetition interest at the contract rate, neither of which are provided for 6 in the Placeholder Plan. Given that the Placeholder Plan does not leave unaltered the contractual rights
7 relating to these claims, the holders of the Funded Debt Claims are impaired. See Placeholder Plan, 8 Section 4.16(a). At a minimum, this entitles the holders of the Funded Debt Claims to vote and to receive 9 disclosure with respect to their claims in advance of voting.

10 20. In any event, because the treatment of the Funded Debt Claims will be the subject of 11 litigation, the Debtors will need to reserve billions of dollars to protect the interests of the holders of 12 Funded Debt Claims in case this Court or an appellate court determines that they are entitled to make-13 whole premiums and interest at the contract rate. Thus, the Placeholder Plan will inevitably face 14 significant challenges as to its feasibility absent reserving funds for such a contingency. The Placeholder 15 Plan does not currently provide for the escrowing of funds necessary to pay additional amounts to 16 confirm the Placeholder Plan should this Court or an appellate court determine that the Funded Debt 17 Claims are entitled to better treatment than the Placeholder Plan currently provides.

18 21. Fourth, the Placeholder Plan violates the absolute priority rule and thus cannot be 19 confirmed without the consent of the classes containing the constituents of the TCC and the Ad Hoc 20 Committee. The absolute priority rule of section 1129(b)(2)(B)(ii) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that 21 without an impaired class’ consent, no junior class shall “receive or retain” “any property” on account 22 of their junior claim or interest. The Funded Debt Claims classes are impaired as set forth above, and the 23 Debtors acknowledge that the Other Wildfire Claims classes are impaired. Yet the Placeholder Plan 24 permits every class of interests to be retained (subject to dilution); three of which are not impaired at 25 all.<sup>16</sup> Moreover, the Placeholder Plan permits the Subrogation Wildfire Claims to participate despite the

1 fact that insurers' subrogation claims are subordinated to their insured's claims under California's made 2 whole doctrine and the Bankruptcy Code. See, e.g., Chandler v. State Farm Mut. Auto Ins. Co., 598 F.3d
3 1115, 1117-1118 (9th Cir. 2010) (stating that the made whole doctrine generally "precludes an insurer from 4 recovering any third-party funds unless and until the insured has been made whole for the loss" and extends 5 to "all the elements of damages, not merely those for which the insurer has indemnified the insured.")

6 22. Even if this Court cannot discard the Placeholder Plan on its face, exclusivity should be 7 terminated. There is no need to make the Debtors' emergence from bankruptcy subject to the satisfaction
8 of every condition to the Placeholder Plan (including the requirement of favorable litigation outcomes 9 on disputed tort claims in multiple fora). Second, the Alternative Plan not only eliminates those 10 contingencies, it allows emergence without potentially burdening ratepayers with the cost of past wildfire 11 liability for decades. And unlike when the Court previously considered termination, there is now not 12 even a remote or hypothetical prospect of a "free for all" or "chaos" over multiple plans. The subrogation 13 claimants have cast their lot with the Debtor/Equity plan, and the TCC and Ad Hoc Committee have 14 locked arms on an alternative.

15 23. The Placeholder Plan puts the Debtors' ability to meet the June 30, 2020 deadline in grave 16 jeopardy by inviting contentious and protracted litigation on a number of key issues. The impaired or 17 unimpaired status of the Funded Debt Claims will need to be determined by the Court before a 18 solicitation process can commence in earnest, because, as noted above, this issue will determine if a 19 massive creditor constituency is entitled to vote. If the Ad Hoc Committee prevails and the holders of 20 Funded Debt Claims are impaired and it is the Debtors' intent to cramdown the Placeholder Plan over 21 the dissent of the holders of these claims, this would lead to additional litigation surrounding plan 22 confirmation regarding fair and equitable treatment of the Funded Debt Claims. The result of this 23 litigation would be subject to appeal and could easily escalate to the Court of Appeals for the Ninth 24 Circuit. As noted above, there is already likely to be hard-fought litigation surrounding confirmation 25 with respect to the treatment of claims of the individual victims in the Placeholder Plan. The Placeholder 26 Plan also does nothing to eliminate the need for a lengthy estimation process scheduled to run through 27

1 January in the District Court or the state court trial with respect to the Tubbs Fire. Rather than doing
2 anything to streamline these cases or bring the company closer to emergence, the Debtors have focused 3 solely on protecting the interests of existing equity holders and have proposed a Placeholder Plan 4 doomed to languish in litigation. By contrast, the Alternative Plan eliminates the need for all of the 5 costly and drawn-out litigation described herein, increasing the likelihood that these cases will be 6 resolved prior to June 30, 2020, enabling the Debtors to participate in the go-forward wildfire fund.

7 24. The TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee submit that the framework embodied in the 8 Alternative Plan represents the only viable path to move these cases forward and fully and fairly 9 compensate the individual victims of wildfires. Therefore ample “cause” exists to terminate the 10 Exclusive Periods to allow the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee to file and solicit acceptances of the 11 Alternative Plan.

12 CONCLUSION

13 25. For the foregoing reasons, the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee respectfully request that 14 this Court enter an order terminating the Debtors’ Exclusive Periods to permit the TCC and the Ad Hoc 15 Committee to file and solicit acceptances of the Alternative Plan contemplated by the attached term sheet 16 for the Alternative Plan.

17 NOTICE

18 Notice of this Motion will be provided to (i) counsel to the Debtors; (ii) the Office of the U.S.

25 these chapter 11 cases and requested service pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 2002. The TCC and the Ad 26 Hoc Committee respectfully submit that no further notice is required.

1           WHEREFORE the TCC and the Ad Hoc Committee respectfully request entry of an order
2 granting (i) the relief requested herein for cause shown and as being in the best interests of the Debtors
3 and their estates and (ii) such other and further relief as the Court may deem just and proper.
