Attorneys for Specially Appearing Defendant
 THE REGENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
 NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

CLAIRE BRANDMEYER, individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated,

Plaintiff,

v.

THE REGENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA,

Defendant.

Case No. 3:20-CV-02886-SK

NOTICE OF THE REGENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA'S MOTION AND MOTION TO DISMISS COMPLAINT; MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES IN SUPPORT THEREOF [Fed. R. Civ.
 Proc. 12(b)]

Date: July 20, 2020
 Time: 9:30a.m.
 Courtroom: C, 15th Floor
 Judge: Hon. Mag. Sallie Kim

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

Pursuant to Rule 12(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Defendant The Regents hereby moves to dismiss the complaint on the grounds set forth below.

INTRODUCTION

The Regents is an arm of the State of California. There is nothing controversial—or even debatable—about that. The United States Supreme Court has said it. The Ninth Circuit has said it. And this Court has said it. The implications are incontrovertible. As an arm of the State, The Regents is immune from suit in federal court, and has expressly declined to waive its right to immunity under the Eleventh Amendment. And because The Regents is an arm of the state, it also means subject matter jurisdiction is lacking under the sole ground asserted in the Complaint: the Class Action Fairness Act (“CAFA”). The statute could not be clearer. CAFA does not apply “to any class action in which ... the primary defendants are States, State officials, or other governmental entities against whom the district court may be foreclosed from ordering relief.” 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(5)(A). Here, The Regents is the only defendant.

This Court is frequently asked to adjudicate close cases involving immunity and jurisdiction. This is not one of them. For two clear and independent reasons, this Court must dismiss the case.

STATEMENT OF RELEVANT FACTS

On April 27, 2020, Plaintiff Claire Brandmeyer filed a class action complaint against The Regents, asserting claims for breach of contract, unjust enrichment, and conversion in an effort to secure the return of service fees and campus-based fees. Dkt. 1, Case No. 20-cv-2886. The next day, Plaintiff Noah Ritter filed a separate class action against The Regents, also in this Court. Dkt. 1, Case No. 20-cv-2925. The Ritter complaint similarly advances claims for breach of contract and unjust enrichment but, unlike Brandmeyer, it seeks a return of tuition as well as fees. The Ritter complaint also asks the Court to create tuition and fee subclasses. Id. On May 12, 2020, Plaintiff Matias Lee filed a third class action complaint in this Court, which, like the Ritter complaint, also sought some form of pro-rata return of tuition and fees. Dkt. 1, Case No. 20-cv-

1 3241.<sup>1</sup>

2 On May 14, 2020, Plaintiffs Brandmeyer and Ritter filed a Motion for Consolidation,
3 Bifurcation, and Appointment of Interim Class Counsel for the Fee Track and the Tuition Track
4 (“Motion for Consolidation”). Dkt. 15 at 1-23, Case No. 20-cv-2886. In response, The Regents
5 contacted counsel for Brandmeyer and Ritter, explaining that the University did not intend to 6 waive its immunity under the Eleventh Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, and further asserting
7 that no subject matter jurisdiction exists against state actors under CAFA. The Regents asked
8 Plaintiffs to dismiss and refile their complaints in state court or, at a minimum, to defer resolution
9 of their pending Motion for Consolidation until after The Regents’s forthcoming motion to 10 dismiss. After several exchanges, Plaintiffs declined and insisted their claims were properly filed,
11 notwithstanding that counsel for Ritter had previously acknowledged The Regents’s immunity 12 and offered to dismiss and refile in state court, Dkt. 20 at 9 (Ex. B), Case No. 20-cv-2886.

13 By contrast, on May 27, 2020, counsel for Plaintiff Lee informed The Regents that 14 Plaintiff would voluntarily dismiss the pending federal complaint given The Regents’s assertion 15 of Eleventh Amendment immunity and the Court’s lack of subject matter jurisdiction to hear the 16 case. Dkt. 20 at 3-4, Case No. 20-cv-2886. Later that day, Plaintiff Lee filed a Notice of 17 Voluntary Dismissal Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 41(a)(1)(A)(i), dismissing all 18 causes of action in his Complaint against The Regents. See Dkt. 12, Case No. 20-cv-3241.

19 The Regents filed its Response to Plaintiffs’ Motion for Consolidation on May 28, 2020,
20 asking the Court to first decide the threshold Rule 12(b) questions before deciding Plaintiffs’
21 motion. Dkt. 19, Case No. 20-cv-2886. Plaintiffs’ insistence on proceeding in federal court
22 necessitated this Motion.<sup>2</sup>

23 _____
24 <sup>1</sup> Four separate class actions asserting nearly identical allegations and claims against The Regents
25 have also been filed in California state courts, the first of which was filed 11 days before the 26 Brandmeyer complaint. See Stoffel v. The Regents of the University of California and Does 1-100
27 Inclusive, Case No. 20STCV14991 (Cal. Sup. Ct.) (filed April 16, 2020); Mueller v. The Regents
28 of the University of California, Case No. 20-CIV-01942 (Cal. Sup. Ct.) (filed May 6, 2020);
Funkhouser v. The Regents of the University of California, Case No. RG20061076 (Cal. Sup. Ct.)
(filed May 12, 2020); Yoo v. The Regents of the University of California, Case No. 30-2020-
01140827-CU-BC-CSC (Cal. Sup. Ct.) (filed May 26, 2020).

<sup>2</sup> Plaintiffs’ Reply in Support of the Motion for Consolidation suggests Plaintiffs intend at some point to file an “amended” pleading in which they will name a different defendant, seek a different remedy, and replace the existing state law claims with something new in order to invoke

ARGUMENT<sup>3</sup>I. PLAINTIFF’S COMPLAINT MUST BE DISMISSED FOR FAILURE TO STATE A COGNIZABLE CLAIM FOR RELIEF.

The Eleventh Amendment erects a general bar against federal lawsuits brought against a state. Porter v. Jones, 319 F.3d 483, 491 (9th Cir. 2003). And, by extension, it precludes actions against state agents and state instrumentalities. See, e.g., Edelman v. Jordan, 415 U.S. 651, 663 (1974); Californians for Renewable Energy v. California Pub. Utilities Comm’n, 922 F.3d 929, 941 (9th Cir. 2019). The sole question here is whether The Regents qualifies as an arm of the state. That question has been answered time and time again to the point where it is now incontestable: it does.

In Regents of the University of California v. Doe, 519 U.S. 425 (1997), the United States Supreme Court held that The Regents is entitled to Eleventh Amendment immunity, even where the State of California would be indemnified by the federal government from litigation costs. The Ninth Circuit has been similarly clear, “repeatedly h[o]lding that the Regents [is] an arm of the state entitled to Eleventh Amendment immunity.” Feied v. Regents of the Univ. of Cal., 188 F. App’x 559, 561 (9th Cir. 2006); see also Doe v. Regents of the Univ. of California, 891 F.3d 1147, 1153 (9th Cir. 2018); Armstrong v. Meyers, 964 F.2d 948, 949-50 (9th Cir. 1992) (“The Regents, a corporation created by the California constitution, is an arm of the state for Eleventh Amendment purposes.”); Thompson v. City of Los Angeles, 885 F.2d 1439, 1442-43 (9th Cir. 1989) (“It has long been established that UC is an instrumentality of the state for purposes of the Eleventh Amendment.”); BV Eng’g v. Univ. of California, Los Angeles, 858 F.2d 1394, 1395 (9th Cir. 1988) (observing that the Regents “enjoy the same immunity as the state of California”); Jackson v. Hayakawa, 682 F.2d 1344, 1350 (9th Cir. 1982) (“[T]he University of California and federal question jurisdiction under 42 U.S.C. § 1983, all in an effort to avoid The Regents’s assertion of immunity. Dkt. 24 at 4-5, Case No. 20-cv-2886. In other words, the only thing that will remain the same in the new complaint is the identity of the plaintiffs; this is not so much an amendment as it is the wholesale abandonment of the original complaint.

<sup>3</sup> Given the clarity with which dismissal is warranted on the two grounds asserted, The Regents does not burden this Court with additional grounds for dismissal. However, The Regents reserves the right to assert those grounds in the event this Court were to conclude the grounds cited herein do not supply a basis for dismissal.

1 the Board of Regents are considered to be instrumentalities of the state.”).

2 So too has this Court. See, e.g., Lafreniere v. Regents of Univ. of California, No. C 04-
 3 05308 CRB, 2006 WL 2355064, at *1 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 14, 2006) (“It is well-settled that The 4 Regents is considered an instrumentality, or arm, of the state for purposes of Eleventh
 5 Amendment immunity.”), aff’d, 207 F. App’x 783 (9th Cir. 2006), and aff’d, 207 F. App’x 783
 6 (9th Cir. 2006); Singleton v. Univ. of California, No. C-93-3496 MHP, 1995 WL 16978, at *2
 7 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 6, 1995) (“[E]leventh [A]mendment protects the Regents from suit in federal court
 8 on state law claims”); Stripling v. Regents of the Univ. of California, No. 14-CV-02606-YGR, 9 2015 WL 471480, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 4, 2015) (“the Regents and officers thereof are immune 10 under the Eleventh Amendment from plaintiff’s causes of action”); Kemp v. Regents of Univ. of 11 Cal., No. C-09-4687 PJH, 2010 WL 2889224, at *4 (N.D. Cal. July 22, 2010) (holding that the 12 State of California’s Eleventh Amendment “immunity also extends to suits against state agencies, 13 including the Regents”); see also Esonwune v. Regents of Univ. of California, No. 17-CV-01102-
 14 LB, 2017 WL 4025209, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 13, 2017) (“The Regents are ‘an arm of the state 15 for Eleventh Amendment purposes’” and thus immune from suit).

16 It seems the only individuals for whom there is confusion on this point is Plaintiffs’
 17 counsel. That confusion does not arise from ambiguity in The Regents’s expression of its intent 18 to assert Eleventh Amendment immunity. The Regents has expressly and repeatedly invoked its 19 right to immunity and provided counsel with the relevant case law. Indeed, both in oral 20 communications and in its May 22, 2020 letter, The Regents unequivocally stated that it “does not 21 intend to waive its immunity in this lawsuit.” Dkt. 19 at 4, Case No. 20-cv-2886; id. at 2-4. That 22 left no uncertainty concerning The Regents’s position.<sup>4</sup> See Montana v. Goldin, 394 F.3d 1189,

23 _____
 24 <sup>4</sup> Nor can Plaintiff plead around the Eleventh Amendment by casting her claims against The 25 Regents as an equitable entitlement to “disgorgement” or “return” of pro-rated amounts of fees.
 26 The Eleventh Amendment applies in any suit that seeks retroactive monetary relief. See, e.g., 27 Jackson v. Hayakawa, 682 F.2d 1344, 1350-51 (9th Cir. 1982); Pennhurst State Sch. & Hosp. v.
 28 Halderman, 465 U.S. 89, 101 (1984). Accordingly, no matter how Plaintiff dresses up her claims, if she seeks a monetary award, they cannot be pursued in federal court. Am. Shooting Ctr., Inc. v. Int’l, 2016 WL 3952130, at *2 (S.D. Cal. July 22, 2016) (“The language of the Eleventh Amendment makes clear that any effort to sue for monetary relief—however Plaintiffs may characterize it—is prohibited.”); Emily Q. v. Bonta, 208 F. Supp. 2d 1078, 1108 (C.D. Cal.
 2001) (“[C]asting the remedy in the form of ‘equitable restitution’ instead of damages does not avoid Eleventh Amendment concerns”); see also Californians for Renewable Energy v.

1 1195 (9th Cir. 2005) (finding that unless they specifically waive their immunity, states and state
2 agencies are immune under the Eleventh Amendment from private actions for damages or 3 injunctive relief in federal court); see also Peralta v. California Franchise Tax Bd., 4 124 F. Supp. 3d 993, 999 (N.D. Cal. 2015) (“[W]aiver of the Eleventh Amendment will only be 5 found ‘where stated by the most express language or by such overwhelming implications from the 6 text as (will) leave no room for any other reasonable construction.’”) (quoting Edelman, 415 U.S.
7 at 673).

8 Plaintiff’s refusal to dismiss and refile in state court is inexplicable. Plaintiff cannot force
9 the State of California to litigate claims seeking monetary damages in federal court. See Glenn v.
10 California Dep’t of Educ., No. 16-CV-05512-SK, 2017 WL 5973526, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 24, 11 2017) (Kim, J.) (granting motion to dismiss because agency was “arm of the state” and therefore 12 entitled to Eleventh Amendment immunity (quoting Regents v. Doe, 519 U.S. at 430 n.5)). For 13 these reasons, this Court should dismiss the Complaint pursuant to FRCP 12(b)(6) for failure to 14 state a cognizable claim.

15 II. PLAINTIFF’S COMPLAINT MUST BE DISMISSED BECAUSE THIS COURT
16 LACKS SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION TO HEAR THE CASE.

17 An equally clear and alternative ground for dismissal exists: the Court lacks original
18 jurisdiction to adjudicate Plaintiff’s claims. See, e.g., Allen v. Boeing Co., 784 F.3d 625, 628 (9th 19 Cir. 2015) (concluding that, under the context of removal, a party may only remove if “a federal 20 district court would have original jurisdiction over the action”). The sole basis for subject matter
21 jurisdiction that Plaintiff alleges is diversity of citizenship under CAFA. Dkt. 1 at ¶ 14, Case No.
22 20-cv-2886. As she alleged, “This Court has original jurisdiction under the Class Action Fairness
23 Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2)(A).” Id. But Plaintiff appears to have overlooked Section 24 1332(d)(5), which provides that Section 1332(d)(2) “shall not apply to any class action in which 25 the primary defendants are States, State officials, or other governmental entities against whom the 26 district court may be foreclosed from ordering relief.” 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(5) (emphasis added).

27 _____
28 California Pub. Utilities Comm’n, 922 F.3d 929, 941 (9th Cir. 2019) (holding that Eleventh Amendment immunity extended to state arm defendant even where plaintiff brought a claim for equitable damages).

1 This provision leaves no room to maneuver. As the Ninth Circuit has explained,
2 “satisfaction of § 1332(d)(5) serves as a prerequisite, rather than as an exception, to jurisdiction.”
3 Serrano, supra, 478 F.3d at 1020 n.3 (citing § 28 U.S.C. 1332(d)(3)-(4)). That means 4 Section 1332(d)(5) must be satisfied before CAFA may be invoked. And because 5 Section 1332(d)(5) applies to the states in unqualified fashion, CAFA does not confer jurisdiction
6 over them even if they waive immunity: “In deciding whether the governmental entity
7 [prohibition of CAFA] applies, ... the existence or waiver of immunity is not the issue; the only
8 issue is whether the entity is such that a claim of immunity may be made.” Kendrick v. Conduent
9 State & Local Sols., Inc., 910 F.3d 1255, 1260 (9th Cir. 2018) (emphasis added); see also 10 Bekkerman v. California Bd. of Equalization, No. 16-cv-00709, 2017 WL 1063608, at *4 (E.D.
11 Cal. Mar. 21, 2017) (“The fact that the State Defendants must be deemed primary [under 28
12 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(5)] then means that CAFA should not have been invoked as a basis for 13 removing this case to federal court in the first place.”). Accordingly, Plaintiff did not have to 14 wait to hear from The Regents to know her claims did not belong in federal court. See Limson v.
15 Bridge Prop. Mgmt. Co., 416 F. Supp. 3d 972, 986 (N.D. Cal. 2019) (“Under CAFA, the burden 16 of establishing jurisdiction is on the proponent of federal jurisdiction.”).

17 In short, because the Regents is an “arm” of the State and is the only Defendant in this 18 case, CAFA’s prerequisites are not satisfied here. Accordingly, this Court should dismiss this 19 Complaint pursuant to FRCP 12(b)(1) for want of subject matter jurisdiction. See, e.g., Diva
20 Limousine, Ltd. v. Uber Techs., Inc., 392 F. Supp. 3d 1074, 1084 (N.D. Cal. 2019) (granting Rule
21 12(b)(1) motion to dismiss where complaint did not allege sufficient facts to establish subject
22 matter jurisdiction under CAFA).

23 III. CONCLUSION

24 For the reasons set forth above, The Regents’s Motion to Dismiss should be granted.
