NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION

1 TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

2 PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on September 22, 2021, at 8:00 a.m., or as soon thereafter as 3 the matter may be heard, before the Honorable William Alsup, United States District Judge, in 4 Courtroom 12 of the United States District Court for the Northern District of California in San 5 Francisco, California, plaintiffs Meijer, Inc., Meijer Distribution, Inc., BI-LO, LLC, Winn-Dixie 6 Logistics, Inc., and KPH Healthcare Services, Inc. (“Plaintiffs”), on behalf of themselves and the 7 direct purchaser class previously certified by this Court (the “Direct Purchaser Class” or “Class”), 8 will move the Court pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(e) for entry of an Order:

- 9
- 10 1. Granting preliminary approval of the agreement by and between Plaintiffs, 11 individually and on behalf of the Direct Purchaser Class, with Defendant Assertio Therapeutics, 12 Inc. (“Assertio”) to settle the claims brought on behalf of the Direct Purchaser Class against 13 Assertio in this action;
 - 14 2. Approving the proposed form and manner of notice of the settlement to the Direct 15 Purchaser Class;
 - 16 3. Appointing Angeion Group, LLC as settlement administrator to assist in 17 disseminating settlement notice to Direct Purchaser Class members and, if the settlement is 18 granted final approval, administer distribution of the settlement fund to the Direct Purchaser Class;
 - 19 4. Appointing The Huntington National Bank as escrow agent to receive and invest 20 the settlement funds in accordance with the terms of the escrow agreement; and
 - 21 5. Setting a schedule for the final approval process, including the date for a Final 22 Approval Hearing.

23 In support of this motion, Plaintiffs submit that the proposed settlement is fair, reasonable, 24 and adequate, providing a gross cash payment to the Direct Purchaser Class of $3,850,000.00 in 25 exchange for defined releases to Assertio, and that the proposed form and manner of notice will 26 adequately inform the Direct Purchaser Class of the terms of the settlement.

1 This motion is based on the Notice of Motion, the Supporting Memorandum of Points and 2 Authorities, and the supporting declarations and exhibits, all papers and records on file in this 3 matter, and the argument of counsel.

4 Plaintiffs have conferred with counsel for Assertio, and Assertio does not oppose this 5 motion.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

1 I. INTRODUCTION..... 1

2 II. ARGUMENT 2

3 A. The proposed settlement meets the standard for preliminary approval. 2

4 1. The proposed settlement, reached on the eve of trial after hard-

5 fought litigation, was the result of serious, arm’s-length

6 negotiations guided by Magistrate Judge Donna M. Ryu. 4

7 2. The proposed settlement has no obvious deficiencies. 5

8 3. The proposed settlement treats all Class Members fairly and 9 equitably..... 6

10 4. The $3.85 million settlement amount secures a fair and reasonable

11 recovery for the Class in light of Assertio’s weak financial 12 position, potential recoveries from other defendants, and the 13 inherent risks of trial..... 7

14 B. The proposed plan to allocate the settlement pro rata to Class Members is 15 fair, reasonable, and adequate. 14

16 C. The proposed form and manner of notice will fairly and efficiently inform 17 Class Members of the terms of the settlement and their options..... 16

18 1. The form of the settlement notice clearly and concisely describes 19 all information required by Rule 23(c)(2)(b). 17

20 2. The proposed manner of disseminating the settlement notice will

21 ensure that notice is timely received by all Class Members. 18

22 3. The Court should not allow another opt-out opportunity..... 20

23 D. The Court should appoint Angeion Group, an experienced, nationally

24 recognized settlement administration company, as settlement

25 administrator. 22

26 E. The Court should appoint The Huntington National Bank, a top-25 U.S.

27 bank holding company that has handled thousands of settlements, as

28 escrow agent. 23

29 F. The proposed final settlement schedule is appropriate, comports with due

30 process, and satisfies the requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act..... 23

1 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

2 I. INTRODUCTION

3 Following an investigation conducted without the aid of any prior governmental action or 4 investigation, Plaintiffs filed this antitrust class action, individually and on behalf of the Direct 5 Purchaser Class, against defendants Bausch Health Companies Inc., Salix Pharmaceuticals, Ltd., 6 Salix Pharmaceuticals, Inc., and Santarus Inc. (“Bausch”), Lupin Pharmaceuticals, Inc. and Lupin, 7 Ltd. (“Lupin”), and Assertio Therapeutics, Inc. (“Assertio”) (collectively, “Defendants”) on August 8 29, 2019. Plaintiffs allege that, in exchange for an agreement from generic manufacturer Lupin to 9 delay the launch of its generic Glumetza until February 1, 2016, brand manufacturers Depomed, 10 Inc. (now Assertio) and Bausch paid Lupin with $3 million in cash and a promise not to launch an 11 authorized generic Glumetza until February 2017—12 months after Lupin’s delayed generic 12 launch. Plaintiffs allege that, absent these reverse payments, generic Glumetza would have been 13 launched as early as December 2012 (rather than February 1, 2016) and authorized generic 14 Glumetza would have been launched simultaneously. Plaintiffs allege that the reverse payments 15 caused them hundreds of millions of dollars of overcharge damages. Defendants deny that they 16 engaged in unlawful conduct or that their conduct harmed the Direct Purchaser Class.

17 From approximately September 2019 through the summer of 2021, this litigation proceeded 18 through fact and expert discovery, class certification, summary judgment, and Daubert motion 19 practice, and the parties began actively preparing for the trial scheduled to begin on October 4, 20 2021. In January 2021, the parties initiated settlement discussions at the direction of the Court and 21 under the supervision of Magistrate Judge Donna M. Ryu. On September 15th, with trial 22 preparations well underway, the Direct Purchaser Class and Assertio reached a settlement with the 23 guidance and oversight of Magistrate Judge Ryu. The proposed settlement provides for $3.85 24 million¹ to be paid to the Class in exchange for dismissal of the litigation with prejudice as to 25

26 ¹ Court-approved attorneys’ fees, expense reimbursement, and settlement-administration costs 27 will be deducted from this amount.

1 Assertio only and certain releases from the Class as to Assertio only.² Under the agreement, 2 Assertio will pay $3.85 million into a settlement escrow account within six business days of this 3 Court's entry of an order granting preliminary approval of the settlement.

4 The Direct Purchaser Class's recovery of $3.85 million from Assertio, though a small 5 fraction of their claimed aggregate damages,³ is a fair and reasonable recovery for the Direct 6 Purchaser Class in light of Assertio's perilous financial position, the Class's potential recoveries
 7 from other defendants, and the risks and costs of trial. It was negotiated in good faith and at arm's 8 length by counsel experienced in pharmaceutical antitrust matters under the auspices of Magistrate 9 Judge Ryu, after nearly two years of hard-fought litigation and while the parties were preparing for 10 trial. And the Settlement Agreement guarantees that no other settling plaintiff in this federal action 11 will be treated better than the members of the Direct Purchaser Class.

12 Plaintiffs, on behalf of the certified Direct Purchaser Class, now seek preliminary approval 13 of the proposed settlement, approval of the form and manner of notice to the Class, appointment of 14 a settlement administrator and escrow agent, and a schedule for the final approval process.

16 A. The proposed settlement meets the standard for preliminary approval.

17 Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(e), "[t]he claims, issues, or defenses of a 18 certified class may be settled . . . only with the court's approval." Approving a settlement is a two-19 step process, the first of which requires the Court to "make a preliminary determination that the

 22 ² See Ex. 1 to Decl. of Steve D. Shadowen, Settlement Agreement by and between Direct 23 Purchaser Class and Assertio ("Settlement Agreement").

24 ³ See Ex. 3 to Rebuttal Report of Jeffrey J. Leitzinger, Sept. 11, 2020 (showing, after deducting 25 retailer opt outs, class damages ranging from $500 to $900 million depending on the entry 26 scenario). Note that this estimate is based on data through November 2019, the latest then 27 available. And the damages are single damages. Of course, Assertio contends that damages, if any, were much lower, ranging from negative $79.5 million to $540.2 million, depending on the (different) entry scenario. See Expert Report of Bruce Strobom, Ph.D. at 46, fig. 8, Aug. 21, 2020.

1 settlement is ‘fair, reasonable, and adequate’ when considering the factors set out in Rule 23(e)(2).”⁴
 2 At the preliminary approval stage, “a full fairness analysis is unnecessary”⁵; the Court need only 3 make an “initial evaluation of the fairness of the proposed settlement . . . on the basis of written 4 submissions and informal presentation from the settling parties.”⁶ At this phase:

5 Courts may preliminarily approve a settlement and direct notice to 6 the class if the proposed settlement: (1) appears to be the product of 7 serious, informed, non-collusive negotiations; (2) has no obvious 8 deficiencies; (3) does not grant improper preferential treatment to class representatives or other segments of the class; and (4) falls within the range of possible approval.⁷

9 The Court does not have the authority to “delete, modify or substitute certain provisions,” so the 10 settlement “must stand or fall in its entirety.”⁸ While courts “must be particularly vigilant” for 11 signs of collusion or self-interest, “[t]he Ninth Circuit maintains a ‘strong judicial policy’ that 12 favors the settlement of class actions.”⁹

13 The Court should grant preliminary approval because, as detailed further below, the 14 proposed settlement satisfies this standard and complies with this district’s Procedural Guidance for 15 *Class Action Settlements*¹⁰ and the Court’s November 4, 2019 Notice and Order on Putative Class
 16 Actions and Factors to Be Evaluated for Any Proposed Settlement.¹¹

¹¹ ECF No. 39.

1 The initial evaluation for preliminary approval does not require a hearing and may be made 2 on the basis of information already known. In light of the Court’s extensive knowledge of this case 3 and the involvement of Magistrate Judge Ryu in all negotiations, Plaintiffs respectfully submit that 4 no hearing on preliminary approval is necessary and that the Court may grant preliminary 5 approval on the papers. Should the Court desire a hearing, however, Class Counsel will, of course, 6 make themselves available at the Court’s convenience.

7 1. The proposed settlement, reached on the eve of trial after hard-fought 8 litigation, was the result of serious, arm’s-length negotiations guided by 9 Magistrate Judge Donna M. Ryu.

10 The first preliminary approval factor evaluates the means by which the parties reached the 11 settlement agreement. To grant preliminary approval, “a court must be satisfied that the parties 12 ‘have engaged in sufficient investigation of the facts to enable to court to intelligently make . . . an 13 appraisal of the settlement.’”¹² There is “an initial presumption of fairness” afforded to settlements 14 “recommended by class counsel after arm’s-length bargaining.”¹³ The use of an experienced 15 mediator, particularly after discovery, also “supports the conclusion that Plaintiffs were armed with 16 sufficient information about the case to broker a fair settlement.”¹⁴

17 The proposed settlement was reached less than two months before trial, following extensive 18 investigation of and discovery on the merits of the case, including reviewing more than a half 19 million documents produced by the defendants and non-parties; taking dozens of depositions; in negotiating a settlement.’” (quoting Villegas v. J.P. Morgan Chase & Co., No. 09-cv-00261, 2012 WL 1114010, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 13, 2007) (“The assistance of an experienced mediator in the settlement process confirms that the settlement is non-collusive.”).

1 preparing expert reports and taking and defending expert depositions; briefing and resolution of 2 class certification and summary judgment motions; briefing of Daubert motions; and preparing 3 witness lists, exhibits lists, and other trial materials. Class Counsel expended tens of thousands of 4 hours developing and preparing their case before reaching a settlement with Assertio. The Court, 5 having presided over discovery, motion practice, and pretrial management, is well aware of the 6 intensity of the settling parties' engagement in this case.

7 The proposed settlement was the result of arm's-length, non-collusive negotiations. During 8 settlement negotiations, the parties prepared and presented written and oral arguments on the 9 merits and value of Plaintiffs' claims and Assertio's defenses. With the case nearing trial, the parties 10 had fully developed their claims and defenses, enabling both sides to negotiate with a full 11 understanding of the strengths and weaknesses of their cases. Moreover, the proposed settlement 12 was negotiated with the active involvement of Magistrate Judge Ryu.

13 2. The proposed settlement has no obvious deficiencies.

14 There are no clear omissions or deficiencies in the proposed settlement. To the contrary, the 15 settlement fund created by the proposed settlement provides members of the Direct Purchaser 16 Class ("Class Members") with a cash recovery that is reasonable in view of the financial condition of 17 Assertio and the other contingent liabilities it faces. And the release granted to Assertio is 18 narrowly tailored to the allegations at issue in the litigation.¹⁵

19 Nor are there any red flags as identified by the Court in its Notice and Order on Putative 20 Class Actions and Factors to be Evaluated for Any Proposed Settlement.¹⁶ The proposed 21 settlement does not allow for a reversion of any settlement funds to Assertio; does not contain any Agreement." Settlement Agreement § 9.

1 agreement regarding attorneys' fees, leaving the issue to the Court's discretion; does not expand
 2 the Class beyond that previously certified; and does not request any incentive awards for the Class 3 representatives (though they would have been justified by the work performed and service provided 4 by these representatives).

5 3. The proposed settlement treats all Class Members fairly and equitably.

6 The Ninth Circuit requires the Court, when considering this factor, to be "particularly 7 vigilant' for signs that counsel have allowed the 'self-interests' of 'certain class members to infect 8 negotiations.'"¹⁷ For that reason, courts in this district deem preliminary approval inappropriate 9 "where the proposed agreement 'improperly grants preferential treatment to class 10 representatives.'"¹⁸

11 Pursuant to the proposed plan of allocation described in Section II.B., infra, each Class 12 Member's share of the settlement will be calculated in exactly the same way. Specifically, as is 13 standard in allocation plans that have been approved in similar delayed generic entry antitrust class 14 actions, each Class Member's share of the settlement fund will be calculated on a pro rata basis 15 based on that Class Member's purchases.¹⁹ As a result, all Class Members are treated equally and 16 fairly with respect to their monetary recovery. Courts in this district routinely find that plans to

3 The settlement also treats Class Members fairly through the inclusion of a most favored 4 nation (MFN) provision, which ensures the terms of their settlement with Assertio are at least as 5 favorable as those of any settlement between Assertio and any opt-out plaintiff(s). The MFN clause 6 guarantees the Class an equitable recovery by providing that, in the event the amount of any 7 settlement between Assertio and one or more opt-out plaintiffs as a percentage of those opt-out 8 plaintiffs' claimed direct purchases by unit volume exceeds the amount of the Direct Purchaser

1 against the value of the settlement offer.”²² This “requires the Court to evaluate the strength of 2 Plaintiff’s case.”²³ There is no “particular formula” for assessing the fairness and adequacy of a 3 settlement amount; “[u]ltimately, [it] is nothing more than an amalgam of delicate balancing, 4 gross approximations, and rough justice.”²⁴ And “it is well-settled law that a proposed settlement 5 may be acceptable even though it amounts to only a fraction of the potential recovery that might be 6 available to class members at trial.”²⁵

7 Here, while the Direct Purchaser Class’s recovery of $3.85 million from Assertio is small 8 compared to the Class’s maximum potential recovery at trial,²⁶ it must be assessed in the context of 9 Assertio’s difficult financial condition. Assertio is a subsidiary of the public company Assertio 10 Holdings, Inc. Because Assertio itself is not a public company, Class Counsel obtained confidential 11 information about Assertio’s financial condition directly from Assertio’s counsel, including a 12 declaration from Assertio confirming the accuracy of the information. Class Counsel then retained 13 Dr. Mark L. Frigo, an econometrics and accounting expert, to analyze Assertio’s financial 14 statements and its parent company’s SEC filings and to research and evaluate Assertio’s financial 15 position, credit analysis, and credit risk.²⁷ Notably, even Assertio’s parent company (which has 16 assets in addition to and separate from Assertio) currently has a stock price of less than $1 and a 17 total market capitalization of less than $50 million.²⁸

1 Dr. Frigo reviewed Assertio's cash balances and noted that not only were they very low, but 2 there was a significant decrease in that cash balance from June 30, 2020 to April 30, 2021, signaling 3 significant financial risk.²⁹ Assertio's cash position has remained low since then, as explained in 4 greater detail in the Frigo declaration.³⁰ Assertio's financial statements also show a consistently 5 negative working capital over the past two years, which means it is difficult for Assertio to find 6 cash to pay short-term liabilities as they become due.³¹ This further indicates Assertio's lack of 7 ability to pay a significant judgment. Dr. Frigo also observed continued significant liabilities for 8 customer rebates, returns, and discounts, suggesting there is a significant risk Assertio's accounts 9 receivable will not lead to an improvement in its cash position.³²

10 Based on this data, Dr. Frigo opined that (1) Assertio would be unable to survive a 11 significant adverse financial event such as an adverse judgment in this case, and (2) the $3.85 12 million settlement amount is "at the high end of the range of payments [it] can afford while still 13 meeting its other obligations."³³

14 Assertio also faces significant contingent liabilities resulting from its having been named as 15 a defendant in more than 250 opioid-related lawsuits or related matters. As reported by Assertio 16 Holdings in its Form 10-Q for the period ending June 30, 2021:

17 Multidistrict Opioid Litigation

18 A number of pharmaceutical manufacturers, distributors and other 19 industry participants have been named in numerous lawsuits around 20 the country brought by various groups of plaintiffs, including city and 21 county governments, hospitals, individuals and others. In general, the 22 lawsuits assert claims arising from defendants' manufacturing, 23 distributing, marketing and promoting of FDA-approved opioid drugs. The specific legal theories asserted vary from case to case, but the lawsuits generally include federal and/or state statutory claims, as well as claims arising under state common law. Plaintiffs seek various 1 forms of damages, injunctive and other relief and attorneys' fees and 2 costs. For such cases filed in or removed to federal court, the Judicial 3 Panel on Multi-District Litigation issued an order in December 2017, 4 establishing a Multi-District Litigation court (MDL Court) in the 5 Northern District of Ohio (In re National Prescription Opiate Litigation, 6 Case No. 1:17-MD-2804). Since that time, more than 2,000 such cases 7 that were originally filed in U.S. District Courts, or removed to 8 federal court from state court, have been filed in or transferred to the 9 MDL Court. Assertio Therapeutics is currently involved in a subset 10 of the lawsuits that have been filed in or transferred to the MDL 11 Court, as well as one additional federal lawsuit in the Eastern District 12 of Kentucky. Plaintiffs may file additional lawsuits in which the 13 Company may be named. Plaintiffs in the pending federal cases 14 involving the Company include individuals; county, municipal and 15 other governmental entities; employee benefit plans, health insurance 16 providers and other payors; hospitals, health clinics and other health 17 care providers; Native American tribes; and non-profit organizations 18 who assert, for themselves and in some cases for a putative class, 19 federal and state statutory claims and state common law claims, such 20 as conspiracy, nuisance, fraud, negligence, gross negligence, negligent 21 and intentional infliction of emotional distress, deceptive trade 22 practices, and products liability claims (defective design/failure to 23 warn). In these cases, plaintiffs seek a variety of forms of relief, 24 including actual damages to compensate for alleged personal injuries 25 and for alleged past and future costs such as to provide care and 26 services to persons with opioid-related addiction or related 27 conditions, injunctive relief, including to prohibit alleged deceptive 28 marketing practices and abate an alleged nuisance, establishment of a compensation fund, establishment of medical monitoring programs, disgorgement of profits, punitive and statutory treble damages, and attorneys' fees and costs. No trial date has been set in any of these lawsuits, which are at an early stage of proceedings. The Company intends to defend itself vigorously in these matters.

State Opioid Litigation

20 Related to the cases in the MDL Court noted above, there have been 21 hundreds of similar lawsuits filed in state courts around the country, 22 in which various groups of plaintiffs assert opioid-drug related claims 23 against similar groups of defendants. Assertio Therapeutics is 24 currently named in a subset of those cases, including cases in 25 Missouri, Nevada, Pennsylvania, Texas and Utah. Plaintiffs may file 26 additional lawsuits in which Assertio Therapeutics may be named. In 27 the pending cases involving Assertio Therapeutics, plaintiffs are 28 asserting state common law and statutory claims against the defendants similar in nature to the claims asserted in the MDL cases.
Plaintiffs are seeking actual damages, disgorgement of profits, injunctive relief, punitive and statutory treble damages, and attorneys' fees and costs. The state lawsuits in which Assertio Therapeutics has 1 been served are generally each at an early stage of proceedings. The 2 Company intends to defend itself vigorously in these matters.³⁴

3 Thus, even if Plaintiffs secured a judgment in this case against Assertio, the Direct Purchaser Class 4 would likely be positioned as only one of hundreds of unsecured creditors in a potential bankruptcy 5 proceeding.

6 Courts in this district have approved settlement amounts significantly lower than the 7 alleged damages where the defendant's tenuous finances render its ability to pay a judgment 8 uncertain, recognizing that a smaller certain reward is preferable to the possibility of a full recovery
9 that class members may not be able to collect.³⁵ In such cases, the reasonableness of a settlement 10 amount may more properly be compared not to the maximum possible damages, but to the total 11 amount actually, practically recoverable from the settling defendant. In In re Critical Path, Inc., for 12 example, this Court found a $17.5 million settlement adequate because, while paltry in comparison 13 to the over $200 million in damages alleged, it amounted to one-half of the defendants' limited 14 assets and roughly two-thirds of their available insurance policies.³⁶ While the Court acknowledged ³⁶ 2002 WL 32627559, at *7.

1 that “the settlement class could conceivably extract more” at trial, it would be “at a plausible risk of 2 getting nothing,” and it was “not unreasonable for counsel and the class representatives to prefer 3 the bird in hand.”³⁷

4 Class Counsel and the Direct Purchaser Class representatives are disappointed they cannot 5 recover more from Assertio, especially given that Plaintiffs allege Assertio had an important role in 6 unlawfully extending the monopoly that first it, and then Bausch and Lupin, exploited. But the 7 financial reality—confirmed by Dr. Frigo—makes this the Direct Purchaser Class’s best path 8 forward with respect to Assertio. That is Class Counsel’s best judgment.

9 Assertio has also agreed to provide cooperation to assist with the authentication and 10 explanation of documents at trial and has agreed to exercise best efforts to secure the attendance at 11 trial of two witnesses who were involved in the unlawful reverse-payment agreement. This 12 cooperation may prove to be useful in establishing elements of Plaintiffs’ case and will allow Class 13 Counsel to focus its efforts at trial on Lupin, the sole remaining defendant with substantial assets.

14 Although Class Counsel have always been (and remain) confident in the strength of the 15 Direct Purchaser Class’s claims, there is no guarantee that a jury would have found in favor of the 16 Class. For example, in denying the purchasers’ motion for summary judgment on market power, 17 the Court concluded that a reasonable jury could find for the defendants on this issue, which would 18 entail a verdict for the defense. Likewise, the Direct Purchaser Class’s recovery would be 19 dramatically reduced if the jury were to conclude that, even without the reverse payments, generic 20 entry would not have occurred until after the gigantic 2015 price increases, and recovery would be 21 zero if the jury were to find that the reverse payments caused no delay in generic entry. Given 22 these risks of no or substantially reduced recovery—risks that would persist even after a lengthy 23 and costly trial (and despite an already-certified class)—the Class’s recovery through the 24 settlement is substantial in light of Assertio’s financial condition.³⁸

25 ³⁷ Id.

26 ³⁸ See Smith v. Am. Greetings Corp., No. 14-cv-02577, 2015 WL 4498571, at *7 (N.D. Cal. July 27 23, 2015) (evaluating recovery in view of trial hurdles faced by class); Bellinghausen v. Tractor Supply

1 Additionally, as noted above, the settlement occurred just before trial, so the parties 2 conducted settlement negotiations with the benefit of completed fact and expert discovery 3 (including, but not limited to, dozens of depositions and expert reports); numerous rulings of this 4 Court (including on summary judgment), setting forth the substantive law and analytical 5 framework applicable to the Class’s claims and shaping the evidence and arguments that could be 6 presented at trial; and extensive trial preparation.³⁹

7 Further, the Direct Purchaser Class is represented by lawyers with extensive 8 pharmaceutical antitrust class action experience, with decades of collective experience representing 9 classes of direct purchasers in similar cases. In approving proposed class settlements, courts afford 10 “[g]reat weight . . . to the recommendation of counsel, who are most closely acquainted with the 11 facts of the underlying litigation.”⁴⁰

12 Accordingly, the amount of the Class’s recovery in view of the foregoing factors is well 13 within the range of possible approval. The proposed settlement with Assertio has the imprimatur of 14 Class Counsel and is unanimously supported by the class representatives.⁴¹

1 B. The proposed plan to allocate the settlement pro rata to Class Members is fair, 2 reasonable, and adequate.

3 A plan for the allocation of a class settlement fund is governed by the same legal standards
 4 applied to settlement approval: it must be “fair, reasonable and adequate.”⁴² Generally, an allocation 5 plan is reasonable if it “reimburses class members based on the type and extent of their injuries.”⁴³
 6 “Indeed, in this District, a ‘pro-rata [plan] for allocation has been used in many antitrust cases.”⁴⁴

7 The proposed plan of allocation here meets this standard. As set forth in the Plaintiffs’ 8 proposed Allocation Plan⁴⁵ and the supporting declaration of Dr. Jeffrey J. Leitzinger,⁴⁶ Plaintiffs 9 will calculate each Class Member’s allocation pro rata based on the proportion of that Class 10 Member’s combined volume of its net unit purchases of brand Glumetza directly from Bausch from 11 May 6, 2012 through August 15, 2020 and net unit purchases of generic Glumetza directly from 12 Lupin and/or Oceanside from February 1, 2016 through August 15, 2020 to all Class Members’ 13 qualifying purchases during the class period.⁴⁷ The Allocation Plan gives fair weight to brand 14 Glumetza purchases as compared to generic Glumetza purchases, as Dr. Leitzinger has determined 15 that the per-unit dollar overcharge is roughly the same for brand and generic Glumetza.⁴⁸ 16 Accordingly, there is no need to “weight” brand versus generic purchases. The proposed Plan of 17 Allocation accounts for assignments by removing any purchases for which the Claimant has 18 assigned to its customer the right to damages in this litigation. In conjunction with notice

3 The Allocation Plan is similar to other court-approved pro rata allocation plans in cases 4 involving alleged overcharges from delayed generic competition and can be implemented with a 5 high degree of efficiency.⁵⁰ In addition, in Dr. Leitzinger's opinion:

6 [T]his allocation method is practical and efficient inasmuch as it uses 7 Bausch's sales data for brand Glumetza and Lupin's and Oceanside's 8 sales data for generic Glumetza, all as supplemented when necessary 9 with IQVIA data--the same data I used in calculating aggregate Class 10 overcharges. In addition, as noted above, this allocation method 11 employs allocation approaches similar to those approved by courts in 12 other similar cases. Finally, this method provides a reasonable 13 procedure, in my opinion, for distributing the Net Settlement Fund 14 and reimbursing Claimants. It reflects the type and approximate 15 extent of their injury (according to my prior overcharge calculations) 16 and does not systematically favor recovery (relative to actual 17 overcharges) on the part of potential Claimants who purchased brand 18 Glumetza or generic Glumetza.⁵¹

14 The Allocation Plan proposes to send a separate, individualized claim form to each Class 15 Member, pre-populated with that Class Member's total qualifying brand and generic Glumetza 16 direct purchases, as calculated by Dr. Leitzinger based on transactional sales data produced by 17 Bausch, Lupin, and Oceanside, supplemented as necessary by IQVIA data.⁵² The claim form will (a) 18 request that each Class Member verify the accuracy of the information contained in the claim form, 19 and (b) provide instructions for challenging any of the figures or computations contained in the 20 claim form. If a Class Member agrees that the information contained in the claim form is accurate, 21 it will be asked to sign the claim form verifying its accuracy and timely mail it to the proposed

1 contained in its claim form is not accurate, that Class Member may submit its own purchase 2 records pursuant to the procedures described below.⁵³

3 Each claimant will be required to execute and return the claim form to receive any 4 distribution from the Net Settlement Fund.⁵⁴ The Settlement Administrator shall follow up, by 5 phone, email, and/or mail, with any Class Member that does not timely return a claim form to 6 attempt to confirm that the decision not to submit a claim form was intentional and/or to address
7 any questions the Class Member may have.⁵⁵

8 The proposed Allocation Plan fairly and appropriately reimburses Class Members on a pro
9 rata basis, based on the extent of their injuries. The Plan is also easy to implement, allowing Dr.
10 Leitzinger to use existing data to determine the volume of relevant purchases for each Class 11 Member, subject to possible adjustment based on purchase data submitted by Class Members 12 should they choose to submit their own data.

13 C. The proposed form and manner of notice will fairly and efficiently inform Class 14 Members of the terms of the settlement and their options.

15 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(e)(1) requires the Court to “direct notice in a reasonable 16 manner to all class members who would be bound by the proposal.” The notice of settlement must 17 fairly inform class members of the settlement and their options,⁵⁶ and notice is satisfactory “if it 18 generally describes the terms of the settlement in sufficient detail to alert those with adverse 19 viewpoints to investigate and to come forward and be heard.”⁵⁷ The proposed notice program here 20 meets this standard.

21 ⁵³ Allocation Plan § 1.1; Dr. Leitzinger will work with the Settlement Administrator to review 22 any data and related documentation submitted by claimants to finalize the allocation calculations.

23 ⁵⁴ Allocation Plan § 1.3.

24 ⁵⁵ Allocation Plan § 1.4.

25 ⁵⁶ See Manual § 21.312 (the notice must “describe clearly the options open to the class members and the deadlines for taking action”).

1 1. The form of the settlement notice clearly and concisely describes all 2 information required by Rule 23(c)(2)(b).

3 Rule 23 requires settlement notices to “generally describe[] the terms of the settlement in 4 sufficient detail to alert those with adverse viewpoints to investigate and to come forward and be 5 heard.” While notice must “adequately apprise[] class members of all material elements of the 6 settlement agreement,” it complies with the requirements of Rule 23(e) without containing 7 “detailed analysis of the statutes or causes of action forming the basis for the plaintiff’s claims” or 8 “an estimate of the potential value of [the] claims.”⁵⁸

9 The proposed form of settlement notice contains all elements enumerated in Rule 10 23(c)(2)(b).⁵⁹ It provides, clearly and concisely in plain, easily understood language, a description of 11 the Class,⁶⁰ the claims contained in the lawsuit and the procedural status of the litigation,⁶¹ the 12 significant terms of the proposed settlement and the total amount of money that Assertio has 13 agreed to pay to settle the claims,⁶² the proposed allocation plan,⁶³ the releases,⁶⁴ Class Counsel’s 14 forthcoming request for attorneys’ fees in the amount of up to 25% of the settlement fund and 15 reimbursement of reasonable litigation expenses;⁶⁵ the rights of Class Members under Rule 23, 16 including the right to object and be heard as to the reasonableness and fairness of the proposed 17 settlement or request for attorneys’ fees and expense reimbursement;⁶⁶ and the contact information

5 expenses incurred as of that date for which Class Counsel may seek reimbursement were 6 approximately $2.5 million.⁶⁸

7 2. The proposed manner of disseminating the settlement notice will ensure that 8 notice is timely received by all Class Members.

9 On November 6, 2020, following the Court's Class Certification Order, a Court-approved 10 class notice was sent by U.S. First-Class mail and email to all direct purchasers of brand Glumetza 11 directly from Bausch and generic Glumetza directly from Lupin or Oceanside during the class 12 period, as identified in transactional sales records produced by the defendants in discovery (though 13 Assertio did not make any sales of Glumetza during the class period).⁶⁹ The purpose of the class 14 notice was to: (a) inform Class Members as to the existence of the lawsuit and the nature of the 15 claims; (b) communicate to Class Members that the Direct Purchaser Class had been certified, and 16 (c) allow an opportunity for Class Members to exclude themselves from the case by December 11, 17 2020. The only opt outs were the retailer plaintiffs, who filed separate complaints to pursue, via 18 partial assignments, claims assigned to them by Class Members; Humana Pharmacy, Inc.; and R&S
19 Northeast LLC.⁷⁰

20 The notice and manner of dissemination proposed by this motion for purposes of providing 21 settlement notice is similar to the one previously approved by this Court for class notice.⁷¹

25 ⁷⁰ Id. at 2-3.

26 ⁷¹ The only difference from the class notice program is that settlement notice will not be 27 disseminated by FedEx. The parties previously opted to supplement U.S. First-Class Mail and 28 email notice with notice sent by FedEx in light of concerns about postal service delivery delays and

1 Plaintiffs propose to send a copy of the settlement notice by U.S. First-Class mail to the last known 2 address of, as well as by email (where practicable) to, each entity with qualifying purchases of brand 3 or generic Glumetza. Given that Bausch and Lupin have produced their sales records in this case, 4 including their customer contact information, and that class notice was previously successfully 5 mailed to these same entities,⁷² the proposed dissemination of settlement notice by direct mail and 6 email will be sufficient to reach all Class Members.

7 For purposes of notifying a certified class of a proposed settlement, the Court “must direct 8 to class members the best notice that is practicable under the circumstances, including individual 9 notice to all members who can be identified through reasonable effort.”⁷³ Based on their recent 10 experience and success with class notice, and given the availability of Class Member contact 11 information from the defendants, sending settlement notice by U.S. First-Class Mail and email 12 constitutes “the best notice practicable under the circumstances.”⁷⁴

13 The recent settlement in the reverse payment pharmaceutical antitrust case In re Loestrin 24
 14 Fe Antitrust Litigation, No. 13-md-2472 (D.R.I.), provides an example of settlement administration 15 in a comparable class action. There, the total settlement fund for the direct purchaser class was 18 notices sent by U.S. First-Class Mail in November 2020 were returned as undeliverable, Class 19 Counsel and proposed settlement administrator Angeion Group believe a supplemental form of 20 delivery is unnecessary for dissemination of settlement notice. See Shadowen Decl. Ex. 8, Decl. of Christian J. Clapp, Esq. Regarding Qualifications & Settlement Notice Plan of Angeion Group, LLC, ¶ 15 (“Angeion Decl.”).

 23(c)(2)(B) requires that individual notice in 23(b)(3) actions be given to class members who can be known, notice by mail is usually preferred.”).

1 $120 million; there were 47 class members, all of which received settlement notice and claims forms
 2 disseminated by U.S. First-Class Mail and email; the average payment per claimant (for the 39 class 3 members and five additional assignees who returned valid claim forms) was $1,756,453.96; all 4 claimants received payment, and there was no need for a supplemental or cy pres distribution; the 5 settlement administration costs were $57,517.50; the court granted class counsel's request for 6 reimbursement of litigation expenses totaling $3,965,558.00; and the court awarded class counsel 7 attorneys' fees of $38,678,147.00 (33.3% of the settlement fund, net of expenses).⁷⁵

8 3. The Court should not allow another opt-out opportunity.

9 The Court already allowed Class Members an opportunity to opt out following notice, and 10 Rule 23 does not require it to authorize a second opt-out period. As the Ninth Circuit Court of 11 Appeals observed in Officers for Justice v. Civil Service Commission of City and County of San 12 Francisco,⁷⁶ forgoing a second opt-out opportunity does not implicate due process concerns:

13 [The objector]'s rights are protected by the mechanism provided in 14 the rule: approval by the district court after notice to the class and a 15 fairness hearing at which dissenters can voice their objections, and the 16 availability of review on appeal. Moreover, to hold that due process 17 requires a second opportunity to opt out after the terms of the settlement have been disclosed to the class would impede the settlement process so favored in the law.⁷⁷

18 ⁷⁵ See Shadowen Decl. ¶ 5; Order Granting Direct Purchaser Class Pls.' Unopposed Mot. for 19 Final Approval of Settlement, Approval of Proposed Plan of Allocation & Adoption of R&R of 20 Magistrate Judge, In re Loestrin 24 Fe Antitrust Litig., No. 13-md-2472 (D.R.I. Sept. 1, 2020), ECF 21 No. 1462. Eight Loestrin class members did not make claims in connection with that settlement.
 22 The claims administrator made repeated efforts to contact each such member, including by phone, 23 email, and mail. None of the mail or email outreach was returned as undeliverable. At least two of the eight explicitly stated that they would not submit any claim. Combined, these eight non-participating class members totaled approximately 0.08% of claims. See Shadowen Decl. ¶ 5. Only two of the Loestrin class members who did not submit claims there are members of this class. See id.

 4 of which have their own in-house or retained outside counsel. They decided not to opt out by the 5 December 11, 2020 deadline indicated in the class notice and after being contacted by Class
 6 Counsel in conjunction with this Court's order to identify any additional assignees. That notice 7 advised them that, by choosing not to opt out:

1 D. The Court should appoint Angeion Group, an experienced, nationally recognized 2 settlement administration company, as settlement administrator.

3 Plaintiffs have retained Angeion Group to serve as settlement administrator for the Class 4 and oversee the settlement notice and claims administration process. Angeion Group describes 5 itself as “an independent, nationally recognized, settlement administration company that has the 6 culture of innovation in our DNA,” which “increase[s] efficiency, provide[s] accountability and 7 give[s] counsel and the court peace of mind.”⁷⁹

8 In connection with the Bausch settlement, Angeion Group provided an estimate for the cost 9 of its requested services which, based on Class Counsel’s experience, is competitive and 10 reasonable.⁸⁰ Class Counsel sent a Request for Proposal to six settlement administration firms, all 11 of which submitted proposals. Angeion Group submitted the second-lowest bid, effectively handled 12 the administration of class notice in this case, and has substantial experience administering complex 13 settlements in federal class actions, including in this district. None of Class Counsel have any 14 financial or other ties with Angeion Group, which has provided claims-administration services in 15 two cases for the three co-lead counsel firms in the last two years.⁸¹

16 Should the Court preliminary approve both the Bausch and Assertio settlements, Class 17 Counsel propose that Angeion Group disseminates a single, consolidated notice of the settlements 18 to Class Members and administers the two settlement funds as one. Doing so would both reduce 19 administration costs and eliminate the possibility of confusion to Class Members that may arise 20 from receipt of two similar settlement notices within a short period of time. Plaintiffs will submit a 21 revised consolidated notice for the Court’s approval in that instance.

22
23 ⁷⁹ See Who We Are, Angeion Group, <https://www.angeiongroup.com/index.php> (last visited 24 Sept. 16, 2021).

25 ⁸⁰ Pursuant to the proposed settlement, the expenses associated with the notice and claims 26 administration process will be deducted from the settlement funds, as is standard practice.

27 ⁸¹ Angeion performed claims administration services in that period in two cases in which 28 Hagens Berman Sobol Shapiro was a lead counsel firm: In re Chrysler-Dodge-Jeep EcoDiesel Marketing, Sales Practices, and Products Liability Litigation, No. 17-cv-02777 (N.D. Cal.), and In re Solodyn (Minocycline Hydrochloride) Antitrust Litigation, No. 14-md-02503 (D. Mass.).

1 E. The Court should appoint The Huntington National Bank, a top-25 U.S. bank holding 2 company that has handled thousands of settlements, as escrow agent.

3 Plaintiffs request that the The Huntington National Bank (“Huntington”) be appointed 4 escrow agent for the settlement funds. Huntington is a top-25 U.S. bank holding company with 5 $175 billion in assets. Founded in 1866, the bank employs more than 21,000 colleagues and 6 maintains more than 1,100 branches in 12 states. Huntington’s National Settlement Team has 7 handled more than 2,800 settlements totaling over $60 billion and 150 million checks for law firms, 8 claims administrators, and regulatory agencies. Class Counsel have securely and successfully used 9 Huntington’s escrow services as in multiple prior class action settlements and have requested that 10 Huntington be appointed the escrow agent for the Bausch settlement.

11 F. The proposed final settlement schedule is appropriate, comports with due process, 12 and satisfies the requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act.

13 As set forth in the proposed Preliminary Approval Order, Plaintiffs propose the following 14 schedule for completion of the final settlement approval process:

- 15 a. Within 10 days from the date of filing for preliminary approval, Defendants shall 16 serve any notices required pursuant to the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005;
- 17 b. Within 15 days from the date the Court grants preliminary approval to the proposed 18 Settlement, notice will be disseminated to Class Members via U.S. First-Class Mail 19 and email;
- 20 c. Within 45 days from the date the Court grants preliminary approval to the proposed 21 Settlement (and within 30 days from the date notice is disseminated), Class Counsel 22 will file a motion for attorneys’ fees and reimbursement of expenses;
- 23 d. Within 90 days from the date the Court grants preliminary approval to the proposed 24 Settlement (and within 75 days from the date notice is disseminated), Class Members 25 must postmark or file in person written objections to any or all of the proposed 26 Settlement and/or Class Counsel’s request for an award attorneys’ fees and 27 reimbursement of expenses;
- 28 e. Within 111 days from the date the Court grants preliminary approval to the proposed Settlement (and within 21 days after the expiration of the deadline for Class Members to postmark or file in person written objections to any or all of the proposed Settlement and/or Class Counsel’s request for an award of attorneys’ fees and reimbursement of expenses), Class Counsel will file a motion for final approval of the settlement; and

1 f. On a date to be set by the Court no less than 120 days following the issuance of its 2 preliminary approval order, the Court will hold a Final Approval Hearing.

3 The proposed schedule is expedient and expeditious, comports with due process, and 4 complies with the time periods set forth by the Class Action Fairness Act.⁸²

5 III. CONCLUSION

6 For the foregoing reasons, the Court should preliminarily approve the proposed settlement, 7 approve the proposed manner and form of notice, appoint Angeion Group as settlement 8 administrator and Huntington as escrow agent, approve the proposed final schedule (or any other 9 schedule satisfactory to the Court), and set a date for a Final Approval Hearing. A proposed order 10 is submitted herewith.
